

Barry Passes Up Wisconsin Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Sunday that if he goes after the 1964 GOP presidential nomination he probably will pass up the Wisconsin primary.

Goldwater travels Tuesday to look over the political situation in New Hampshire, where his name is certain to be on that state's March 10 preference ballot unless he withdraws it.

Goldwater said in an interview he is in agreement with an effort by Wisconsin Republicans to get behind Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., as a favorite son in their state's April 7 primary.

Playful Ginny Heads For Sea

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Playful hurricane Ginny, still poised with 95 mile an hour winds, drifted slowly out to sea Sunday — apparently to stay.

The Weather Bureau said even though Ginny has had erratic movements it appears now that any threat to the U.S. mainland has "all but vanished."

Gale warnings were lowered from Cape Fear to Manteo and coastal residents from Florida to North Carolina finally began to relax.

Rescuers Hear Miners' Voices

BROOKSTEDT, Germany (AP) — Rescue workers bored through from the surface to an air pocket in a flooded iron mine here Sunday and determined that three miners trapped since Thursday are alive.

The three, who talked with the rescue workers over a telephone line dropped through the narrow passage, are 210 feet below the surface. It took 70 hours to bore the hole.

Rice To Poland; More In Offing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Communist Polish government has bought 4,000 tons of American southern rice and is negotiating for 10,000 tons more, a New York grain executive said Sunday.

Raphael Totah vice president of the Continental Grain Co., said Poland is paying $6.25 per 100 pounds net for the milled rice.

Later Pope Paul VI, in a solemn ceremony of veneration, referred to England as "that blessed country" and "that island of high destiny."

Journalists Rap Administration

CHICAGO (AP) — A committee of professional journalists said Sunday that freedom of information in the federal government is at "the lowest ebb in history."

In its 1963 report, the Advancement of Freedom of Information Committee of Sigma Delta Chi, the journalistic society, singled out the Defense Department as the prime offender.

Delaware School Robbed

MILFORD — State Police at the Milford station said last night that a person or persons broke into Delaware Valley Joint High School and stole equipment valued at $1,000.

They fixed the time of entry at sometime between 6 and 9 p.m. Saturday and said that two Royal typewriters, two 16mm Bell and Howell movie projectors, and two movie screens were taken.

The school is located on Rts. 5 and 209 just south of Milford.

Scattered Showers Don't Help Much

HARRISBURG (AP) — Drops of rain fell over scattered sections of Pennsylvania Sunday, but in amounts so small that the precipitation provided no substantial drought relief.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Harrisburg reported that .45 inch of rain fell at Erie, the high for the state. Other reporting stations showed:

Bradford, .21; Dubois, .34; Pittsburgh, .02; Blairsville, .01; Philipsburg, .01; and Williamsport, .01.

The light rainfall was caused by a cold front moving across the state, but a weather bureau spokesman said it would not have much effect on the current dry spell.

The Weather Bureau's preliminary outlook calls for the showers to work their way back into Pennsylvania either Monday night or Tuesday.

Meanwhile, forest fires continue to break out over the state's vast acreage of woodland. Forty-two new fires started Friday and 21 new ones on Saturday. Sunday's total was not immediately available.

Gov. Scranton's office was informed Saturday by the U.S. Agriculture Department that nine additional counties have been declared emergency disaster areas.

In a telegram to the Governor, Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman certified these counties: Allegheny, Butler, Cambria, Clinton, Crawford, Indiana, Luzerne, Mercer and Westmoreland.

The certification makes farmers in these counties eligible to purchase surplus feed grain from the federal government at a reduced cost.

Freeman also told Scranton he would ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to permit railroads serving the state to "reduce freight tariffs on hay shipments to all designated counties."

Reds Withdraw From Moon Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of the U.S. space program said Sunday a reported Soviet pullback on lunar landing efforts will not and should not affect American moon research projects.

There were indications, however, that the declaration by Premier Khrushchev that the Soviet Union is "not at present" in a race to be first to the moon would strengthen the stand of those opposing heavy space spending.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said the U.S. has put together a program calculated to cost $35 billion over 10 years. NASA's position is that this program cannot be turned off and on without serious losses in time and money.

Real Compliment
Webb told The Associated Press that Khrushchev's statement was "the most sincere compliment to our space program that has been made."

Dr. George E. Mueller, director of NASA's manned space flight programs, said the U.S. lunar program is well-conceived and should continue independent of any action that the Russians might take.

Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., chairman of the House Science and Astronautics Committee, said the Russian statement should have no effect whatever on the U.S. program.

But Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Republican leader from Illinois, said the space committees of both chambers should re-examine the whole U.S. program in the light of the Soviet position. Dirksen said he anticipated the Congressional advocates of reduced space spending would step up their arguments on the basis of Khrushchev's remarks.

Senator Clark
Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., commented that "if we could be reasonably sure that Khrushchev is not sort of secretly planning to go to the moon, it would seem to me that the remaining reason for a crash program, calling for expenditure of billions of dollars, is now gone. If there is no race, we could now take a more leisurely look at the program and perhaps consider using some of this money on such things as education."

Dirksen noted that such diverse leaders as Nobel Prize-

Plastic Heart Pump Saves Dying Man

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The dying man's heart kept stopping. Surgeons conferred, wheeled him into an operating room—and created history.

For the first time, they put a plastic heart pump inside a human chest to do part of the heart's work.

The substitute pump brought temporary benefit, and the man lived four more days.

But heart surgeons had crossed the frontier toward a future and tremendously dramatic goal of substituting mechanical hearts inside the body for ailing human hearts.

Dr. Michael DeBakey of winning chemist Linus Pauling and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower have questioned the wisdom of moon shot spending on the scale currently projected.

Miller suggested that if Russia in fact has dropped its program to land men on the moon it may be because of a lack of booster power capability.

$35 Billion
Webb said the U.S. has put big boosters and world wide tracking systems under contract, and has invested $7 billion of the proposed $35 billion in powerful booster rockets and $6 billion in large spacecraft, the two-man Gemini and three-man Apollo vehicles.

Webb said that if these programs were to end without success, a year from now it would cost so much money to reactivate them that there would be no ultimate saving.

Mueller, direct supervisor of the man-in-space programs, said the U.S. approach to its lunar program is soundly based on an over-all desire to establish a position of leadership in the exploration and exploitation of space.

Khrushchev Statement

MOSCOW (AP) — Here is what Premier Khrushchev said about the moon race in an interview with touring journalists:

"It would be very interesting to make a trip to the moon, but I cannot say when this will be possible. At present we are not planning manned moon flights. Soviet scientists are working on this problem. They are studying it precisely as a scientific problem, are conducting the necessary researches."

"I have read a report to the effect that the Americans want to land a man on the moon by 1970. I wish them success. We shall watch how they fly there, how they come to earth, or rather come to moon, and, this is the main thing, how they take off and return home. We shall take their experience into consideration."

"We do not want to compete in sending people to the moon without thorough preparation. It is clear that such an emulation would not produce any benefit, but on the contrary only harm. This could lead to the loss of human lives."

A crowd of about 100 persons forming a semicircle near the flaming figure on a sidewalk shouted at police and shoved them away as they attempted to halt the suicide.

The U.N. team at the time was on the other side of the city visiting An Quang Pagoda and talking to Buddhists who have voiced support for the government of Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic.

Opposition Buddhists
A U.N. spokesman here said the team is breaking off its government-arranged schedule and would make its own decisions on who to talk to about charges of persecution. Presumably, the mission will seek out Buddhists who oppose Diem.

The Buddhist who committed suicide Sunday was identified by official sources as Ho Dan Van, a monk, whose age was given variously as 35 and 45.

One policeman broke through the crowd and tried to extinguish the flames by waving a straw mat. This fanned the fire and the flames shot higher.

The monk arrived at the

Red Tanks, Egyptian Men Join Algeria-Morocco War

ALGIER (AP) — Western diplomats said Sunday Soviet tanks and planes have arrived in Algeria aboard a Cuban ship and that shipments of Egyptian troops and arms were en route to help Algeria in its Sahara Desert border conflict with Morocco. The diplomats said they were concerned that a major world crisis might erupt.

An authoritative source said U. S. Ambassador William J. Porter had seen President Ahmed ben Bella Saturday and personally expressed concern about the possibility that the undeclared border war might blossom into a conflict involving other nations.

In Morocco military spokesmen reported Moroccan planes, and troops had pushed back a stream of Algerian reinforcements trying to reach forward outposts under siege.

Despite Moroccan claims that Algerian casualties were heavy and Moroccan losses light, three planeloads of wounded Moroccan troops landed at the military air base in Marrakech, Morocco. Newsmen there counted 70 cases, only a few of them on stretchers.

Plans were being pushed for a summit conference for peace scheduled for Tuesday in Bamako, Mali, with Ben Bella, King Hassan II of Morocco, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia and President Modibo Keita of Mali sitting in.

Algeria and Morocco are fighting over area recently found to possess mineral resources along the ill-defined border between southeastern Morocco and southwestern Algeria.

The diplomatic sources here said a Cuban ship had arrived in the Algerian port of Oran Friday with modern Soviet tanks and crated jet fighters.

These informants said the Egyptians were sending parachute troops recently withdrawn from the counterrevolutionary war waged by royalists in Yemen against the Egyptian-backed republican government there.

The diplomatic sources said the 100 Soviet tanks and "a few dozen MIG's" were part of a major arms shipment ordered from the Soviet Union long before the outbreak of the Sahara conflict.

Morocco's chief delegate at the United Nations, Ahmed Tahbi Benhima, told newsmen in New York Saturday the Soviet tanks and planes had been shifted from Cuba especially to help Algeria fight the Moroccans.

There was no indication that Soviet personnel would take an active part in the fighting, although Soviet instructors probably would have to teach the Algerians how to handle their new arms, the sources said.

Benhima said three Egyptian ships had left Alexandria and Port Said Friday with arms and parachutists which are to be taken to the front line in the Sahara.

Negro Leader Opposes Goldwater

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Negro leader Dr. Martin Luther King said Sunday he thought few Negroes would support Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona if he were to run for the presidency.

"Goldwater is not for civil rights," Dr. King told a news conference prior to ground-breaking ceremonies for a church here. "Instead, he (Goldwater) says 'leave it to the states' and that means Mr. Barnett and Mr. Wallace (Govs. Ross Barnett of Mississippi and George C. Wallace of Alabama)."

Dr. King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said President Kennedy was taking a risk in backing civil rights legislation, but he added "it is better to be right than president."

He said children should be taken to schools by bus if necessary to foster school integration. Segregated housing "should not be used as an example to perpetuate segregated schools," said Dr. King. He said it is vital important for Negroes and whites to "grow up together and live together as human beings."

At one point, a sound truck moved through the area, broadcasting slogans and comment of the Negro separatist "Black Muslim" movement.

He expressed his support of a "sacred Christmas" — a Christmas without the usual gifts, as a form of commemoration of the Birmingham church bombing which killed four girls.

Dr. King suggested, instead, that the money usually earmarked for Christmas gifts be donated to organizations fighting racial discrimination.

The NBC account said: "As the NBC men were taking the pictures, one of the policemen grabbed Robinson. Robinson wrenched free and began running. At that moment a black government limousine pulled to a halt opposite him, and the driver snatched Robinson and another Western newsmen into the car. Inside was a Vietnamese—described by Robinson as a high government official—and a woman. They dropped him off safely away from the burning scene and were, in Robinson's words, 'crying in sympathy with the monk.'"

'Deliberately Set' Fire Under Control

REEDERS — The worst Monroe County forest fire in 1963 was declared "under control" late last night but continued to burn over an estimated 700 acres of forest near Big Pocono Mountain.

At 11 last night, bulldozers had succeeded in plowing a circle around the fire, but the burning continued and firefighters stayed on the job through the night.

George Raish, fire inspector with the Department of Forest and Waters, said yesterday at 5 p.m. "The fire was deliberately set. There are some 75 men with six pieces of equipment and a bulldozer at the fire."

The fire was first reported by the fire tower on Big Pocono Mt. yesterday at 1:45 p.m. At that time it was burning in the Tunkhannock Swamp in Tunkhannock Twp.

3 Fire Companies
Firemen from three companies—Jackson and Pocono Township and Long Pond were called to help state fire crews.

The fire burned from the Grass Lake area in Tunkhannock Twp. in a northeastern direction towards Big Pocono Mt.

At 8 p.m. yesterday Mr. S. Ethel Motts, (known as "Pocono Pete"), fire warden at Big Pocono, said, "The wind has shifted and is now out of the north. If it stays like this I doubt if the fire will come up Big Pocono."

A weak cold front moving into the area brought scattered showers throughout the Poconos with most areas receiving no more than a trace of rainfall.

It was the first rainfall of any kind since Oct. 3.

The two couples were quartered in the cottage because of a lodge being filled to capacity. The lodge has a lease arrangement with owners of several cottages in the area in event of such emergencies.

Marshall's Creek
Chief Ralph Miller of the Marshall's Creek fire company reported his company was called out yesterday at 12:05 p.m. to extinguish a grass fire at Lake Monroe Shores.

He said about one-quarter of an acre burned before firemen could douse the blaze. Firemen ringed the fire and then fought it for two hours before they had it out. The cause is undetermined.

Wind Gap firemen were called out yesterday afternoon to fight a small grass fire on Alpha Rd. in Wind Gap. Fire Chief Oscar Kibler said that the cause is unknown and that there was no damage.

Grass Fire
Blue Ridge Hook and Ladder Fire Co. in Saylorsburg was called out yesterday at 8:45 p.m. to extinguish a grass fire on Lake Rd., a road going from Saylorsburg to Saylors Lake.

Chief Willard Shoemaker said the fire was deliberately set and that about one-quarter acre burned before firemen extinguished the blaze.

Nikita Threatens U.S. Wheat Bypass

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's public threat to by-pass the United States in his wheat purchases came as no surprise to the administration—officially.

But one official familiar with the negotiations so far conceded "the issue is snarled up more than anticipated" in the wake of Khrushchev's Saturday statement that any "discriminatory conditions" would block Soviet purchase of U.S. wheat.

The Soviet premier did not specify what he meant by "discriminatory conditions" but it was assumed here he referred to President Kennedy's Oct. 9 stipulation that exports to the Soviet Union would have to be available. This presumably handled in American ships, it would have the effect of adding about $10 a ton to the cost of the 100 to 200 million bushels of wheat.

The White House, State Department and other agencies which have been participating in the preliminary negotiations had no formal comment on Khrushchev's remarks as they appeared in the Moscow newspaper Izvestia. However, officials said the premier's objection really was only a public statement of the position that the Soviet negotiators have been taking all along in the private discussions.

American shipping lines apparently are unimpressed by the new business opportunity and are reported to have declined the Maritime Administration's invitation to reconsider their rates.

Shipping Industry
Administration officials hinted that the government still hopes to come to terms with the shipping industry by reminding them that Kennedy's qualifying phrase of availability and the question of rates are closely linked.

Some officials privately explained that should the ship owners reject the administration overtures, the government will have three choices.

—It could consider the deal as having fallen through.

—It could announce that the high shipping rates mean non-availability of American vessels permitting the Soviets to find their own means of transportation.

—It could seek some kind of mixed arrangement with the Russians, with part of the wheat to be delivered in American ships.

Scranton Decries Racial Strife

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — Gov. Scranton says America's current racial strife is seriously damaging the U. S. image abroad.

Unless Americans do their utmost to rectify the problem, he said, "I seriously question whether this national will, or should, remain a world leader."

Speaking at the annual founders Convocation at Lafayette College Saturday, Scranton called for a reexamination of "our present values lest America lose her position as world leader."

The governor expressed optimism that there eventually will be an end to racial discrimination. But he said, meanwhile, "the problem has become a major defect in our struggle to win men's minds to the way of life we hold so dear."

Indians See JFK On Kinzua Dam

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of Pennsylvania Indians have concluded two days of meetings with White House officials on problems of the Kinzua, Pa. dam and reservoir.

Lee C. White, special assistant counsel to President Kennedy, met with Seneca Indian leaders last weekend to attempt to speed up settlement of these problems.

Arthur Lazarus Jr., the Indians' attorney, said that although no concrete decisions were reached, the group got a friendly reception from White and other officials.

Among the problems Lazarus mentioned are construction of resettlement areas and new houses for displaced Senecas, litigation over property, community water projects, unemployment among the Indians and agreements on damages.

He added that agreement has already been reached on the sale of 134 Seneca parcels to the Army Engineers out of the approximate 435 parcels the army needs for the reservoir for the dam at Kinzua to near Salamanca, N. Y.

9 Counties Get Drought Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department on Friday declared farmers in nine more Pennsylvania counties eligible to buy surplus government feed grain at reduced prices because of drought conditions.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., was advised that farmers in Allegheny, Butler, Cambria, Clinton, Crawford, Indiana, Luzerne, Mercer and Westmoreland counties can now buy surplus grain at not less than 75 per cent of the support price.

The department earlier had declared farmers in 20 Pennsylvania counties eligible to buy the grain through their county Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

PUC To Act On TV Cable

HARRISBURG (AP) — The chairman of the Public Utility Commission will seek to determine whether the regulatory agency has jurisdiction over television cable service.

"Regulation of this type of service has been a very controversial and confusing problem, to us and to the Legislature," said Chairman Joseph Sharfstein in a letter to Rep. George W. Heffner, R-Schuylkill.

Heffner told Sharfstein he had received several complaints because a cable firm in the Pottsville area plans to boost monthly service charges from $3.75 to $4.50.

Scranton Wins $58,000 Grant

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $58,000 grant to Scranton, Pa., was announced by the Community Facilities Administration Friday.

The money will help finance construction of fire stations to cost an estimated $100,000. The grant was provided under the accelerated public works program.

Mrs. Kennedy Gets Seton Medal

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, mother of President Kennedy, is the first recipient of the Elizabeth Seton Medal.

She was presented the award at Seton Hill College on Saturday by the Right Rev. Msgr. William G. Ryan, college president. About 1,800 persons witnessed the ceremony.

Commission Will Study Revising Hunting Seasons

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania sportsmen were promised today that, despite the current hunting ban, there will be plenty of hunting opportunity this year.

H. L. Buchanan, Franklin, president of the Pennsylvania Game Commission announced he will contact the seven members of the commission just as soon as conditions warrant a review of opening and closing dates for the 1963-64 hunting and trapping seasons.

"Although the ban against hunting must be continued until sufficient rainfall reduces the threat of fire in Pennsylvania fields and forests, we will still follow the Commission's long-standing policy of providing maximum hunting opportunity for Pennsylvania hunters," Buchanan said.

"This means that just as soon as the ban is lifted, we will officially consider extending seasons which have already been interrupted. It also means that if the 1963 small game hunting season is delayed, we will consider setting additional shooting days later to make up for any time lost."

Buchanan pointed out that, from a game management standpoint, hunting seasons can be held anytime after the breeding and rearing season has produced the annual surplus of game species. The basic objective in regulating the harvest is to permit hunters to crop this surplus without reducing sufficient breeding stock for the following year. For this reason, hunting seasons can be held anytime between fall and spring.

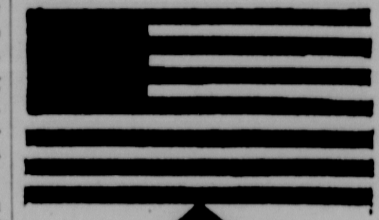

Other Game Commission spokesmen are predicting good to excellent hunting this year on most small game species regardless of when the season starts. They report the current drought and forest fire situation has not caused any widespread loss among wildlife populations.

Warm weather has actually slowed down the fall migration of waterfowl, giving Pennsylvania one of the highest October concentrations of ducks and geese in years.

Commission field officers also report above average fall populations of pheasants, wild turkeys, bobwhite quail, deer and bear.

Fall populations of squirrels, rabbits, grouse and snowshoe hares on a statewide basis are generally reported average or slightly below average.

Famous Choir At ESSC Wednesday

EAST STROUDSBURG — The internationally known Eva Jessye Choir will perform at a special evening convocation on Wednesday, Oct. 30, at the East Stroudsburg State College.

Dr. Donald Corson and student members of the Entertainment Council stated that the concert is open to the public at no charge, and that the concert will begin at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Performing around the world, Eva Jessye Choir has continually received public accolades for their outstanding contributions to the musical world. Praise of their fine musical renditions has been given by critics throughout the nation and world.

With rich, full-throated singing that ranges the spectrum of emotion, the singing of the choir interprets the humor and tragedy of America's colorful past. Included in their repertoire are syncopated spirituals, blues, worksongs, mountain songs and plaintive love ballads. The songs of Gershwin, Ellington, Gould, Arlon and Hammerstein are presented with equal authority and brilliance. Actors as well as singers, the presentations are in best taste with attractive attire that complements the beauty of the solo and choral voices.

Dr. Eva Jessye, the conductor, is world-renowned for her productions in radio, television, movies and the Broadway stage. From 1935 to 1958, Dr. Jessye was choral director for all productions of Gershwin's "Porgy and Beas" including American and European tours.

Interborough Bus To Stop 'Unless Miracle Happens'

STROUDSBURG — Unless there is a drastic increase in the number of passengers, interborough bus service will be discontinued at the end of its run on Thursday, Oct. 30.

"Unless a miracle happens by Wednesday of this week we will be forced to stop our runs after we complete our schedule on Thursday," Paul Hull, general manager of the Delaware Valley Transportation Co., said yesterday.

This was decided at a meeting Saturday between Hull and John C. Mullins, treasurer of the Stroodsbu Businessmen's Assn., the group which agreed to underwrite 50 per cent of the bus company's losses.

"It is commendable that the bus company went this long, but since the patronage was getting progressively worse we see no purpose in continuing the service," said Mullins.

According to Hull, the company needs 550 passengers every week to break even. An average of 175 people have been using the buses during their four weeks of operation. About 160 rode it last week.

This resulted in a net loss of $150 a week. During the best week the businessmen's association and the bus company lost $67 each.

Mullins said it is obvious that there are more calls concerning the bus service than there are passengers using the service.

Hull said that if the number of passengers increased considerably his company will be willing to try to finish the original agreement of three months trial service and he said he feels sure the businessmen's association will also go along with further trial operations.

FOREST FIRE — Flames leap along the ridge of a mountain southwest of Big Pocono Mountain yesterday afternoon as 75 volunteer firemen fought to bring the season's worst forest fire under control. Photo was taken by Daily Record Photographer with a telephoto lens from the Long Pond-Pocono Summit Rd. four miles away.

Mrs. Travis Asks Women For Council Race Support

EAST STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Ann M. Travis supported her bid for re-election as the councilman from East Stroudsburg's fourth ward in a recent speech before the Republican Women's Council of Monroe County.

Mrs. Travis told the group that during the past four years she has never missed a regular or special meeting of council. "Nor have I missed a committee meeting held to discuss borough affairs."

"If re-elected I will devote my time and efforts for better roads, encouraging more industries and more employment, while reducing taxes at every opportunity," she said. She said she is also in favor of reducing sewer rental charges.

Mrs. Travis said her purpose in seeking re-election is to build up East Stroudsburg and the surrounding communities.

"This will enable them to attract more incoming business," Mrs. Travis said.

Mrs. Travis said she has been interested in borough improvements such as disposing of the old lockup and replacing it with offices for the mayor and other borough officials.

"I am in favor of getting a better water supply to residents in the higher areas where the pressure is low. I also strongly support the rebuilding of East Broad St.," she said.

She has served as vice president of the council for the past two years, and has been a member of the recreation board which operates East Stroudsburg's playgrounds for the past twenty-six years.

3-Car Crash At N. 10th St.

STROUDSBURG — Stroudsburg Police Saturday investigated a three car accident at the intersection of Main and N. Tenth Sts. Injuries were reported as only slight.

Police said Alexander Lee, 59, of Stroudsburg RD 4, was making a left turn on Tenth St. when his car was struck by one driven by Walter Marvin, 59, of 6 Foundry St., Stroudsburg. The Marvin vehicle then sideswiped a car owned by Ruth Strunk of Analomink.

Marvin was treated at the General Hospital of Monroe County for a cut forehead and Lee for a bump on his head and then released.

Damage to the Marvin car is estimated at $950. The Lee vehicle was demolished and the Strunk car damaged to an estimated $150.

Scranton Gets Rain

STROUDSBURG — The record drought entered its 25th day today with no immediate relief in sight.

The threat of forest fires in Pocono Mountain woodlands remained a sleeping giant even as firemen battled a 700-acre fire southwest of Big Pocono Mountain (see story on page 1).

The U.S. Weather Bureau at the Scranton - Wilkes-Barre Airport in Avoca did report rain in the Scranton area. Meteorologist Al Plytage said the rain fell heaviest in Clarks Summit but he had no reports on the amount that fell.

As the drought continues it is leaving a myriad of troubles in its wake. The U.S. Weather Bureau has issued an air pollution alert for the New York City area and much of the Northeast.

The alert embraced an area from Bedford, Mass., to Binghamton, N. Y., Altoona, Pa., Washington, D. C., and then back up to Nantucket, Mass., and Bedford.

Stagnant air in the affected area plus a warm air mass acting as a lid to keep cooler air near the ground from rising was expected to cause smoke and other air pollution to remain close to the ground.

Indians Battle Dam For Sacred Cemetery

SALAMANCA, N. Y.—Seneca Indians are battling the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers over the relocation site of a sacred cemetery which will be inundated by the proposed Kinzua Dam.

The Kinzua Dam is now under construction by the Corps of Engineers on the upper reaches of the Allegheny River above Warren, Pa.

The dam will flood land at the site of the Cornplanter Cemetery.

The cemetery is the site of Cornplanter Monument and the traditional Cornplanter meeting ground and is located on ground granted to Chief Cornplanter by Governor Mifflin of Pennsylvania on Feb. 1, 1791, in recognition of the chief's services to the U.S. The chief was instrumental in maintaining peaceful relations with the Seneca Indian Nation.

An act of May 16, 1871, limited the sale of any part of the original Cornplanter Grant to Seneca Indians only and forbid any white man to own any of this land.

Now the heirs of the chief are embroiled with the Corps of Engineers over where the dispossessed cemetery will be relocated. The Corps says the cemetery should be relocated on the eastern side of the Allegheny Reservoir.

The Cornplanters want it relocated on the western side of the reservoir.

The engineers say this is impossible because the western side is going to be used for the building of the dam. The Indians have not taken the engineers at their word, however. They have recently fired off letters to President Kennedy and Governor Scranton asking for help in having the cemetery relocated on land that was donated to them.

They further want the land to maintain its former tax-exempt status and want the appropriate officials of Pennsylvania to assist in effectively planning the details of perpetual maintenance of the cemetery and the monument.

Government By Default

We hear a lot these days about the encroachment of federal government on state government's rights and state government on local rights and all government on business and individual rights. There is no doubt about it. But we are putting the blame on the wrong people.

It is not always the creeping socialists, government regulators and welfare staters who have seized power and influence and freedom from state and local governments.

State and local governments have more often defaulted those powers by their failure to act and to meet the needs of the modern world.

Civil rights and equal job, housing and education opportunities for all Americans are some of the areas where the federal government has been forced to act in many states which have not wanted to meet the needs of today.

Water pollution is another area of defaulted powers. A federal Water Pollution Control Board is now being created to act in states and areas where local and state governments have been too timid to force action.

Water pollution laws are needed because individuals in the first place have not acted with responsibility to their communities when they freely dump noxious materials, sewage or polluted water into clean streams.

Consumer protection is another field in which American industry, by betraying the public with partly-filled packages of food and other planned deceptions, has defaulted its freedom from government regulation. The public has no sympathy for the businessman who cheats.

Price fixing by big American industries has opened the door to more and more government control over business.

In another area, closer to Stroudsburg, the federal government proposes to build a huge recreation area around Tocks Island Reservoir. The cry goes up that free private enterprise can voluntarily provide large hunting, swimming, hiking and picnic areas.

But just jump in your car some weekend and look for some of that free, private, voluntarily-opened land even in the forested Pocono Mountains.

You are blocked by no trespass posters in every direction, and cannot tread on any land but that of a friend or that which has been bought by the state or federal government and opened for the public.

Private enterprise real estate development in the Poconos is using up much of the open land. It is good for business and brings more people into the area, but it makes it all the more necessary for the state to push Project 70 and the federal government to push the National Recreation Area at Tocks Island.

In the Stroudsburg, flood control, urban renewal, a sewer system in Stroudsburg, an addition to the County Home, and renovation of the courthouse basement are projects undertaken with 50 per cent more federal aid.

They all could be done locally, with local tax money. But by taking the easy way, by default, the federal government has been given the responsibility.

The people who shout the loudest about government interference are often the first ones to turn to Washington for financial help when it can save local tax dollars.

We would prefer to have all these requirements met without government aid or interference. But when society needs new services or new laws and cannot get them from local and state officials, it will allow the federal government to take over. Not willingly perhaps, but by default.

Comment Of The Day

"Instead of seizing the initiative, businessmen permit the government to lead the way.

"I work in a major San Francisco office building where the tenant on one floor is a federal agency. The only Negro white-collar workers in the building—stenographers, clerks and supervisors—are employed on that floor.

"The few nongovernment Negroes in the building are janitors, cafeteria busboys and messengers.

"If government agencies can find qualified Negro workers, so can we. And we can easily get them because we pay more.

"But we are not doing so, and we are thereby inviting government interference into the conduct of our business in a situation where it is right and we are wrong.

"This is the worst possible position in which to carry on a fight against government regulation, the Welfare State, or Creeping Socialism.

—David G. Wood, steel industry public relations writer and former newspaperman, in a November Harpur's Magazine article entitled, "How Businessmen Can Fight Big Government—And Win."

Dead Sea Dilemma

JERUSALEM — We took a place-dropping swim in the Dead Sea (we propose to keep dropping it into conversations) then rode a couple of miles to Jericho. After reviving a music-loving tribe of Bedouins with a raucous rendition of "... and the walls came tumbling down", we climbed the Judean hills to this emotion-rousing cradle city where we became embroiled in an ethical debate with Suleiman the Magnificent.

His square Jordanian moniker is Suleiman Mousa, but I began calling him the Magnificent because of the way he handles his job as Deputy Chief of Press and Information. Turkey's original sultan, the Magnificent, never had equalled him in my country-right-or-wrong pitchdom.

Mr. Mousa was in stitches of laughter when we barged into his branch ministry near the Old Walling Wall.

"One of your American women just left this office," he explained, wiping his eyes. "You will never-never-never in all the world — guess what she wanted of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan."

I conceded that Americans away from home sometimes said foolish things; in fact that I myself had been guilty when an antiquarian informed me that Jordan's capital city of Amman was St. Paul's old Philadelphia and I remarked idiotically that this established a bond because I used to report for the old Philadelphia North American.

"Not quite as bad as that," said Mr. Mousa, "but this American lady came in here and said she had just been swimming in the Dead Sea and suffered a stuck zipper. She said she'd had to tear her bathing suit off and desired information as to whether we could lend her a replacement, or lacking such a reasonable accommodation, could we suggest where she might borrow or buy another?"

"I said to your American lady, 'Madam, I am flattered at the suggestion that I might possess a swim suit that would suit you, but what I don't seem to comprehend is why you came to this ministry?'

"She stared at me as if I were not making sense. Then she demanded:

"But is not this the Department of Information?" I said I would like to see this lady.

"She has gone to the Dome of the Rock, where Abraham was going to sacrifice his son Isaac, but was stayed by The Lord," said Mr. Mousa.

"I will send my assistant, Mr. Abu-Leil, to point her out. You may be interested to know that his name in Arabic means 'Father of Night.'"

By the time we got to the Dome of the Rock, the lady had moved to the adjacent Agas Mosque, third only to Mecca and Medina as a Moslem holy place. She was loudly imparting this knowledge to the imam, or high priest.

Thank Heaven! She had a double-thick English accent. Before returning to Mr. Mousa to uphold the honor of my countrywomen, we toured the splendid old Mosque with the imam. Possibly because we asked him so many questions that struck him as childish, he bade us farewell by saying:

"I hope you come back next year with a baby."

My wife gave me a look I preferred not to interpret, then made the holy man's face go blank with bewilderment by asking:

"Who'll be the mother?" When I told you about my audience with King Hussein I forgot to report how quick His Majesty is in parrying pointed questions. He told me of some he had posted recently.

The day previously he had received a Polish delegation of the impressively-named International Federation of Free Journalists.

Commissioners' Plan

Isn't it about time candidates for Monroe County commissioner posts offer concrete answers to cement their positions on planning and zoning.

It has been a long time since any real county-wide movement was initiated in favor or against planning and zoning. While authority was established to peer into the problem, little or no effort was made to pinpoint Monroe's feelings one way or another.

If you can call "letting a sleeping dog lie" a negative approach, then the county isn't planning to plan. However, there have been some rumblings in different sections of the Poconos, asking and urging a firm stand on planning and zoning.

The commissioners are the ones who carry the ball for Mr. and Mrs. Voter. It is up to the three men sitting in the highest county roof office to ascertain the goods or bads of any project that affects all the people.

Harrisburg, whether it be under Democratic or Republican control, is very much interested in getting a planning and zoning program started. But their hands are tied unless the commissioners open the door, or better still, give their feelings on a program of such magnitude.

There is no doubt that planning and zoning have their pitfalls. Some folks will get hurt. But if sound reasoning replaces political narrow-mindedness, planning and zoning could be made into a beneficial asset for a majority of the people in Monroe.

Voters, property owners and even visitors have a big stake in what the future commissioners do. It is their businesses, homes and mountains which will rise or fall with the decisions of the men who occupy the main office in the courthouse.

In less than two weeks the voters will go to the polls. What they do inside the curtain booth will depend on the stands of the candidates. The day of popularity contests is slowly passing. Now the voter wants to put into office the man or woman they feel will do the job in the most efficient way.

From the talk around barbershops, restaurants and main streets, planning and zoning is a topic that most folks would like clarified.

The citizens are not satisfied with "I like planning and zoning but with some reservations," or "I'm against planning and zoning because..." They want specific answers and most of all whether the commissioners are planning to adopt or drop entirely a program that could shape the future of Monroe County.

The Pennsylvania Story

Scranton Delays

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — Foot-dragging seemingly is becoming a trademark of the Scranton Administration — an "attribute" that should go well in presidential 1964!

On the political front for example, local GOP leaders in many areas are irked, nettled and frustrated over the Governor's dilatory tactics in moving on matters political — particularly the patronage front. Many are in battle dress over the top priority accorded the big city moguls down Philadelphia-way (at their expense).

And now becoming somewhat of a joke: upstate areas don't know whether to plug the Scranton presidential aspirations (to start the "pure and honest draft") or whether to start the fires burning for Goldwater, Rockefeller, Romney — or Alf Landon.

"The whole thing is so dog-gone 'iffy' and drawn out we don't know 'if' we should lie down and wait or stand up and wait," complained one upstate GOPster of modest weight and metal in his home area.

The foot-dragging — unfortunately — isn't confined to the political arena; rather it carries over heavily into the governmental field itself.

For example, no decision has been made as yet by the governor as to "when" (or "whether" for that matter) he is going to call lawmakers in to special session to do something about the $72 million in state aid due Pennsylvania's institutions of higher learning, community hospitals and similar state-aided facilities — which the regular 1963 session sidestepped on a bickering political hotfoot.

Nor has Mr. Scranton moved on the question of calling a special session on the subject of unemployment compensation, which earlier in the year was so "desperately pressing" that with much blarney of lutes and harps he sent a special message to the then-session legislature — which again failed to act.

But perhaps one of the most nettling foot-dragging exercises of all has been the fiddling around with Implementing Act 299 swept into being by the 1963 Legislature.

Reorganization This is the much talked-about "reorganization" of the (Democratic) school reorganization act of 1961, then known somewhat infamously as Act 561 — one of the major butts of the Scranton gubernatorial campaign of a year ago.

One of the big criticism commotions regarding old Act 561 was that it was a "hurry-up" job, incomplete and poorly thought out because of the rush.

The Allen-Scott Report

Cuban Infiltration

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — The State Department is suppressing alarming evidence that deposed President Villeda Morales permitted Cuban Ambassador Silvio Sorhegui to openly export Castro's Communist revolution to Honduras.

The headline "proof" of this development is detailed in documents sent through diplomatic channels to the State Department by the military junta that seized power in Honduras to keep that nation from drifting into the "arms of Castro."

One of the junta's shocking reports, which casts a dark shadow over some of the pious administration hand-wringing over what to do about the new regime, links the military's take-over to President Villeda's milquetoast efforts to bar Communist subversion and infiltration from Cuba.

Striking illustrations of the ousted government's failure to combat this Red threat as outlined in the military's report are:

"Documents found in the Palace contain positive proof that President Villeda knew that the Cuban Ambassador accredited to his government was frankly and openly exporting the Cuban revolution months before he was ousted.

"Ambassador Silvio Sorhegui, with criminal impunity traveled all over the country distributing money and propaganda, and created Communist cells for Castro in some of the remote corners of Honduras.

"In Tegucigalpa, the Cuban Ambassador used the Library Camile Cienfuegos as a rendezvous for Castro followers and agents. During these visits, he arranged for transportation for Honduran students and youths to go to Cuba for espionage training and indoctrination. Although these activities were known to the government, no action was taken by President Villeda to stop them or prevent the students from completing their trips.

"Records of the security police show that government officials who tried to block these students from leaving the country were discharged or demoted by aides of President Villeda."

Hiding The Danger — Another of the military junta's reports, turned over to U.S. diplomats before they were recalled, points out President Villeda's constant efforts to play down the existence of pro-Castro guerrillas in the small Caribbean nation, stating:

"While President Villeda insisted that there were no Communist guerrillas between the Patuca and Segovia rivers near the Nicaraguan border, the Honduran armed forces and the Nicaraguan army confirmed their presence.

"The Palace (Civil) Guard, under the service of President Villeda, saw students in Tegucigalpa display Czech and other foreign arms and hand grenades, but took no action to confiscate the arms."

The Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee, which is probing Communist infiltration of Latin America from Cuba, plans to call State and Defense Department officials early next month to determine why this shocking information is being withheld from Congress and the public.

Army Colonel R. W. Page, Jr., who heads the 20-man U.S. military mission pulled out of Honduras after the junta took over, will be questioned about reports that U.S. aid was being used to build up the President's Palace Guard, which was loaded with pro-Castro officers.

Senate probes have learned that Colonel Page, while frowning on the military coup, reported to his superiors in the Pentagon that the military junta "are our guys" even more so than the so-called democratic leaders who were run out of the country.

On seizing power, the junta disarmed the Palace Guard, placing a number of their pro-Castro officers in jail. This blow for freedom was "reversed" with a U.S. crack-down on the new government. The White House ordered all military and economic aid cut off from the military junta despite some strong private protests by members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Foreign Flashes — Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman will be the U.S. representative at next month's Alliance for Progress meeting in Sao Paulo. He was picked for the assignment by Mr. George Bundy, White House adviser on foreign policy, to pump new life into President Kennedy's lagging aid program for Latin America.

Ludwig Erhard's first test as Chancellor will be the opening of negotiations with the Soviet Union next month for a new trade agreement. Russia is pressing for expansion of the three-year 1961 pact expiring next year. West Germany had agreed in principle to increase Russo-German trade prior to the wheat sale controversy. Significantly, ex-Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is opposed to expanding trade. Meanwhile, President Kennedy is quietly encouraging Erhard to increase West German contacts and trade with the Russians. West Germany signed the first trade pact with Russia in 1958, providing for two-way trade totaling around $700 million. The 1961 pact boosted the volume to more than $200 million both ways. In the past, the West Germans have refused large credits sought by Moscow. Now, however, "a green light" from the U.S., Erhard is expected to give in to the Soviet demands.

Dear Abby

This 'Friend' Is Dangerous

DEAR ABBY: I am a junior in high school, but quite mature for my age. A good friend of the family, who is 40 and married, has taken an interest in me. He said, "If there is anything you want to know about the facts of life or anything you want to confide, come to me because you wouldn't want to go to your parents with things like that, would you?" He's right. There are some things I wouldn't go to my parents with. He said when he was my age, he developed a close friendship with a woman teacher and he learned a lot. He thinks every young person should develop a close friendship with someone older of the opposite sex. There are a few things I should like to know more about. Should I confide in him?

LOTS OF QUESTIONS

DEAR LOTS: No. In my opinion this family friend is out of line. A REAL friend would encourage a young girl to confide in her parents. The best thing you can develop between this man and yourself is distance.

DEAR ABBY: My son is in Germany and has been there for five months. He got a "Dear John" letter from his girl in our home town who had promised him she'd wait "forever." We, being in the same town, knew she was writing our son this letter and we worried for fear he would take it very hard. We worried in vain. We heard that he put her picture up on the bulletin board with her name and address under it, and across the top he printed AVAILABLE. Now she is mad at all of us because she got six letters from soldiers in his outfit. Yours truly, CASEVILLE, ILLINOIS

DEAR ABBY: Would you kindly inform me as to how soon a bride is expected to get her thank-you notes out for her wedding gifts? I was married three months ago. Over 700 people attended our wedding. We went on a two-week honeymoon, but the day after we returned I started back to work again. I have a five-room apartment to take care of, so you know I am not just sitting around doing nothing. My mother-in-law told my husband that if I didn't hurry up and get those thank-you notes out, she would offer to do it for me. I'd like your opinion on how guilty of negligence you think I am.

VERY, VERY BUSY

DEAR ABBY: Very! You should have started writing your thank-you notes the day after you returned from your wedding trip — if you had to burn the midnight oil while doing it.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Another Fountain Of Youth

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

When Ponce de Leon sought the fountain of eternal youth he was following a quest that was centuries old. It has been said that eternal youth is the constant, dominant wish of the aging. It has been sought through superstition, old wives' tales and sorcery.

Primitive, even sophisticated, societies have created all kinds of weird concoctions to be eaten, applied and even inhaled in an effort to maintain youth and to stay the invasion of the aging process. But youth has failed to remain fixed, despite the most bizarre formulas and drugs.

Constant Search When the findings of science replaced magic potions and incantations, the efforts to find the elixir of youth did not cease.

A modern anesthetic drug—procain—seems to have outdistanced all other historical aspirants to the title of Youth Eternal. When there were reports that the drug had positive potential for slowing down the processes of aging, careful study was begun.

At St. Peter's Hospital in Minnesota, a well-controlled program was instituted on a large group of elderly patients. Varying amounts of procain were used over a 12-month period.

Definite Improvement Observations made by Dr. Robert F. Long and Dr. Solvieg Gislason showed that there was definite improvement in "tests of memory, orientation and attention" with the use of this drug. There was also "a significant increase in weight."

Psychological tests were performed by these doctors on the procain patients while similar studies were made on a non-procain group of elderly people. Consistently, there seemed to be benefits in the well-being of those who were being treated with procain.

The findings were modestly reported without the suggest-tion that the aging process could be reversed or that the trail was blazed to the fountain of youth.

But hope, if not youth, springs eternal in the human breast. Science continues its limitless efforts to find better ways to keep the elderly healthy, functioning and independent.

Although the experimental work with procain might not have achieved the prolongation of the external signs of youth, it is a significant contribution because, from the viewpoint of the aging person, it is more important to feel young than to look young.

FORCED RETIREMENT The golden age of the elderly must not become the dark age of their life. It is too much to expect that anyone suddenly dislocated from his job and security can readily adjust to forced and often unnecessary retirement.

The accomplishments of medicine have made the attainment of the three - score-and-ten goal a frequency rather than a rarity. Many people today at the age of 65, 70 or over are leading full, productive and happy lives, working by choice in dignity.

Numerical age should not be the factor that determines man's usefulness. Vigorous men and women must not be arbitrarily discarded just because they have survived a particular birthday.

The community and the nation will benefit by the sustained contribution of this large segment of our serviceable population.

These columns are designed to relieve your fears about health through a better understanding of your mind and body. All the hopeful new advances in medicine reported here are known to doctors everywhere.

Your individual medical problems should be handled by your own doctor. He knows you best.

Joint Board Meeting Held At South Sterling Church

NEWFOUNDLAND — The first joint board meeting for the South Sterling Charge was held at LaAnna Methodist Church recently with Elmer Becker, South Sterling, presiding.

The group heard Becker detail the purpose of the joint meetings: To make available additional time to the minister; to expedite business pertinent to the charge as a whole; to acquaint the board members of each church with those of other churches.

The next joint board meeting was set for January 22 at South Sterling at 8 p.m.

Robert Krieger, Greentown, discussed the parsonage treasury, and noted that a sidewalk will be installed between the parsonage and the church, and that electrical and hot water system work is pending.

Mr. Becker announced that all members of the three Methodist churches of the charge, as well as members of the Newfoundland Moravian Church, may participate in a joint musical program under the direction of Mrs. Robert Krieger. This has become an annual project of the four churches in the area. The first practice will be held early in November.

There was a discussion of the parish treasury, and all three churches approved participation at 43 percent for South Sterling and Hemlock Grove and 14 percent for LaAnna, of a total figure set at $350. This will begin on May 1, 1964, and, until that time, LaAnna and South Sterling will make their regular payments. Hemlock Grove has completed its pledge to the fund.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by a committee headed by Mrs. George Newell, LaAnna.

In addition to the Rev. Denton Covert, these board members represented their churches: Fred McLain, Robert Krieger, Margaret Schoenagel and Hazel Akers, Hemlock Grove; Robert Meyers, Leah Scott, Estella Christman, Elmer Becker and Henry Arneberg, South Sterling; Douglas Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Carlton, Mr. and Mrs. George Newell, Mr. and Mrs. James Mehrwein, Frances Osborne, Alice Megargle, Anna Smith and Peggy Bancroft, LaAnna.

Judge Picked For Piano Auditions

STROUDSBURG — Stenley Sprenger of Temple University's music department will be judge of this spring's National Piano Playing Auditions, according to Mrs. Josephine R. Chaffier, chairman of the Stroudsburg National Guild of Piano Teachers.

Every spring since 1929 the auditions have been sponsored in organized centers from coast to coast. The pupils are heard and rated by well-qualified examiners.

Auditions are conducted privately and on the order of the conservatory test. Each student is evaluated on his playing and is not in competition with others. Every phase of their musical ability is considered.

A student enters the auditions in his own grade. Students from the earliest elementary to the concert artist are eligible to enter. All entrants are allowed to play as many pieces as he is capable of doing excellently, according to Mrs. Chaffier.

Area Marines Plan Annual Dinner-Dance

WYOMING, Pa. — Marine Corps anniversary dance plans are completed.

Capt. Norman Woodworth, commanding officer of 2nd Motor Transport Maintenance Co., USMCR, said the annual dance, which will mark the 188th anniversary of the Marine Corps, will be held Friday, Nov. 8, in the Host Motel, Wilkes-Barre.

Included in the program are a dinner, birthday cake cutting ceremonies and dancing. Congressman Daniel Flood of Wilkes-Barre will be the principal speaker.

Marines and former marines in the area wishing additional information should contact S. Sgt. Harold Jacobsen in East Stroudsburg, or S. Sgt. James D. Shafer in Snyder'sville.

Monroe, Pike Bond Sales At $106,256

PHILADELPHIA — Saving bond sales in Monroe and Pike Counties in September totaled $106,256.

Robert F. Davenport, Monroe County bond sales chairman, said in Monroe County totaled $79,631 or September. This brought the nine-month sales to $1,034,885 and is 68.77 per cent of the $1,504,800 quota of 1963.

Donald Z. Wade, bond sales chairman in Pike County, reported September sales at $26,625. This is 69.98 per cent of the 1963 quota of $136,800. Sales for the first nine months of 1963 are $95,740.

Carbon County is one of the top ten counties in the state in bond sales. The county has reached 88 per cent of its quota $1,687,200 for the year.

Forest County in northwestern Pennsylvania is the first county in the state to reach its sales goal $31,920. Sales in the county to date total $32,672.

Biography For Library

CARLEISLE, Pa. (AP)—A two-volume biography written by librarian Charles Sellers of Dickinson College is among the 1,800 titles chosen for the White House library, it was announced at the college Thursday.

The biography was hailed as the definitive life of the American painter, Charles Wilson Peale, when published in 1947.

President Kennedy established the new library as a "working library" for his own use and that of later presidents.

Negotiators Reach Agreement

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Negotiators reached agreement Friday on a proposed new contract for workers at the Glassport plant of Pittsburgh Steel Foundry Co., which was struck Sept. 28 by steelworkers.

Pete Kasyan, president of United Steelworkers Local 1306, said the agreement provides a wage and benefit package worth about 12½ cents an hour.

A ratification meeting of the local, which represents some 900 workers at the plant, was scheduled for Thursday night.

Kasyan said he would recommend ratification of the two-year agreement, which provides a seven cents an hour pay hike, an extended vacation plan fashioned along the lines of the plan now in effect in the basic steel industry and insurance and pension benefits.

The firm's plant at McKeesport was struck at the same time. That strike was settled last week.

Start Your Christmas Shopping At Knipe's TV Now

A Store Featuring Sound

This is October 28 and Christmas is not far away — how many of us wait until the last moment to do anything about it? What is the result? Rush-rush, heartburn, tension, headaches, throngs of the same kind of people and what is worse — "Sorry, we're all sold out of that particular item."

Here's a suggestion from Knipe's Radio - TV-Hi-Fi Stereo, 18 N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, "Do-It-Now." What nicer gift could there be than something that will give years of pleasure to that someone special.

Home entertainment is something that everyone wants and can use. At Knipe's the key word in home entertainment is "Quality and Service" in everything from the smallest transistor radio to color TV to a complete six-foot stereo with AM-FM radio, tape recorder and stereo record player.

A few of the quality name brands handled and serviced by Knipe are: RCA, Voice of Music, Bell, Stechel-Carlson, Channel Master, and many more.

In color television it's RCA, "First Name in Home Entertainment," with glare-proof high-fi color tube, new vista tuner and only two color controls to make tuning easy. RCA color sets start at low prices and Knipe's liberal trade-in allowance makes color TV all the more inviting.

How about having fun with a tape-recorder, gives hours of enjoyment and has many, many practical uses.

Then there is always hi-fi and stereo, of which Knipe is blessed. Some of the finest names in the business — RCA, Knipe's floor, VM, Bell, RCA — all beautiful — not only in performance, but also in furniture styling — just about any price range you could ask for in this department.

Radios? Anything from the smallest transistor to a powerful and effective trans-oceanic job.

Knipe also specializes in custom built-in stereo for homes. This not only adds another dimension to the home but the pleasure derived from having beautiful strains of music floating through the house is truly the essence of elegant living.

Inter-communication systems for the home, store, factory or farm is another of the many talents possessed by our man Knipe.

The intercom is a very handy and practical device, lending efficiency and time saving advantages to any home or business.

You are invited to stop in and browse at Knipe's, see the many wonderful and exciting home entertainment items — maybe you are a do-it-yourselfer? Knipe has them!

Use Knipe's convenient lay-away for your Christmas shopping and make someone really happy with a quality gift from Knipe. You're assured of excellent service on anything purchased at Knipe's.

Stainless Steel Sinks Beautified

Good news for the homemaker is the introduction of the Cuisine Console, the ultimate in high fashion design from Eljay Manufacturing Company, the nation's leading producer of stainless steel sinks.

The new Cuisine Console marks the culmination of years of research and product study at Eljay.

THE MARCH OF THE TOYS has begun for 1963, and the parade of dolls in Sears, Roebuck and Co.'s Christmas catalog is longer and more colorful than ever. The catalog offers 270 dolls from the U.S. and other countries such as France (right) and Germany (second from right) to kiss, cry for, talk to and otherwise amuse their young mothers.

Sears, Roebuck Christmas Catalog Is Largest In History Of The Firm

Sears, Roebuck and Co. has next to nothing four years ago, retailers sold $60 million worth of race sets last year. The industry estimates $80 million for this year.

"This holiday catalog reflects our conviction that this is going to be the biggest selling season the nation has ever seen," George H. Struthers, Sears vice president in charge of merchandising, said today.

"The nation's economy continues strong, and the future looks bright. Consumers are in a strong buying position, and every indication points to the merriest Christmas ever."

"It is in light of these facts that we have greatly expanded our Christmas book."

Struthers said the company's 572-page catalog — 100 pages bigger than last year's — comprises 6,000 separate items, or almost 35 per cent more than a year ago.

It offers merchandise ranging from candy to color television. The 212-page selection of toys — which fills considerably more than one-third of the book — is the largest catalog collection ever offered by any company in history, he said.

Other major categories include clothing, sporting goods, home entertainment equipment, jewelry and Christmas decorations.

"Each of the 6,000 items is in the catalog because we have solid, black-and-white evidence from past sales or our market research that this is what the public wants to buy," Struthers explained.

He cited road racing sets as "an outstanding illustration of the public guiding the merchant."

Four years ago a small road race set first appeared in a Sears catalog. It was a minor item in the toy section.

"But children and adults alike discovered road racing skill, and didn't bore them after a few minutes," Struthers said. "Today road racers are one of the fastest selling items in our toy line, a real challenger for leadership. From sales of next to nothing four years ago, retailers sold $60 million worth of race sets last year. The industry estimates $80 million for this year."

Because of this demand, Sears 1963 Christmas catalog features eight full pages of road race sets in a variety of sizes, types and prices.

"The Sears catalog, because of its huge sales volume, can document trends in toys and fashions, whims and habits," Struthers said.

The Christmas catalog, for instance, contains proof that Johnny can too read . . . and that he wants to. Providing what the public has asked for, this catalog contains a selection of 618 children's books — nearly four times as many as were available in 1962.

Struthers said Sears studies show that dolls, ever popular, will be even more popular this year. As a result, the company has more than doubled its Christmas selection for 1963, offering 270 dolls from the U.S. and other countries such as France and Italy to kiss, cry for, talk to and otherwise amuse their young mothers.

The 19 pages of portable transistor radios, guitars, electronic organs, color television sets and other items represent the widest range of home entertainment equipment ever offered by Sears in a Christmas catalog.

The catalog also introduces a buffet bar which cools or heats food and drink at the touch of a button for living room and patio parties. This unique appliance, in a contemporary walnut cabinet, is the first consumer product using the heating as well as cooling effect of thermoelectricity. It was developed in conjunction with Whirlpool Corp., and is being manufactured by Whirlpool exclusively for Sears.

"And each of these items is offered because we have proof there will be a significant consumer demand for them as Christmas gifts," Struthers said.

Heating Plant Is Important

A homeowner will achieve the most rewarding results with other home improvement projects after a modern heating system is installed, says the national Better Heating-Cooling Council.

A hydronic (forced circulation hot water) heating plant is especially suitable for modernization of old heating systems. A modern hydronic boiler, as small as a console TV set, saves useful living space. It is more efficient and provides an abundance of power to heat your home.

Hydronic systems do not require ripping walls and floors apart for installation. Fingersize hydronic tubing is easily "snaked" through spaces in walls, floors, or even through pipes or ducts.

If you have an old steam or gravity hot water system and it is in good condition, you may be able to retain the basic system and up-date its performance and appearance at a modest cost.

Project 70 -- Parklands For Populous Areas

(This is the first of a series on Project 70 reprinted by special arrangement from the Harrisburg, Pa., Patriot.)

By James Welch
Harrisburg Patriot Reporter

A paradox of the first order has come to pass in Pennsylvania.

With nearly three million acres of virtually empty, public-owned lands, this state is running out of "breathing space."

In terms of outdoor recreation and park space, Pennsylvania is in the position of a man with a 26-inch chest and a 42-inch waist. Its natural resources are in the wrong locations.

Where the vast majority of Pennsylvanians live — in city and suburban areas — there aren't enough places for people to pitch a camp, build a fire, toss a ball, catch a fish, launch a boat, take a hike or just plain horse around in the outdoors. In these same areas the supply of land suitable for outdoor recreation is dwindling to a critical point.

From the realization of this has come a highly ambitious plan for statewide action.

Nov. 5 Vote
Its name is Project 70. Its fate is up to the voters of Pennsylvania Nov. 5. The name derives from two figures — $70 million, which the state would spend for park and recreation land, and 1970, the target date for completing the land acquisition. The money would not be spent from a lump appropriation. It would come from a series of bond issues, with payment to be made over a 25 to 30-year period.

Because of the constitutional restrictions on debt, the voters will have to approve an amendment permitting the bond issues. The amendment question is one of four referenda on the ballot.

If they say "yes" Project 70 will begin to take shape. The biggest chunk of bond issue money, $40 million, would go for state park land in 43 counties that are considered populous and "underparked."

Another $20 million would be offered as matching money to local governments for their own programs of buying recreation sites. The remaining $10 million would be divided between the Fish Commission and Game Commission for land purchase.

Recreation Industry
Also part of the Project 70 package, but not directly tied to the bond issue proposal, are plans to develop a diversified recreation industry on state-owned lands in rural counties. Finally come state hopes for Uncle Sam to build three huge recreation areas in Pennsylvania and to kick in other forms of help, preferably money.

"It's all up to the people now," said Maurice Goddard, state secretary of Forests and Waters, who is far and away Project 70's foremost champion. "I just hope they view this for what it is, an essential investment in the state's future. If they do, we can really begin to move."

What if the voters say "no" on election day?

"We'll be back where we started. No, it'll be worse, because a lot of time would have to elapse before it could be revived. It would be at least 1967, maybe up to 1971, before a plan like this could get going again. By that time rising land prices would make it necessary to spend a lot more money."

What has produced the sense of urgency expressed by Goddard and other Project 70 supporters?

Many forces are at work. Consider:

Population continues to increase at an unprecedented rate. The nation has added 40 million people since 1950 and will double its current 190 million people probably within another 40 years. Pennsylvania isn't growing as fast as the nation, but it's growing.

Nearly all the growth is in urban-suburban areas. Besides the two giants, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, this state has 39 communities with more than 25,000 population. Only nine per cent of Pennsylvania's population lives in the big farm, forest and mountain regions where the bulk of state-owned land is located.

In the metropolitan areas, a vicious cycle has developed since World War II. More people have moved farther out for the room they want, leaving less space for outdoor recreation and stimulating growth still further out. This rapid, leap-frogging development has produced the phenomenon known as urban sprawl.

People have developed an heroic appetite for outdoor recreation. Goddard says there are figures showing 90 per cent of Americans participate in some form of outdoor recreation. He reports that visits to Pennsylvania's state parks totalled eight million in 1955 and are triple that number in 1963.

This demand shows every sign of continuing indefinitely. Not only are there more people. They are acquiring more time, money and mobility with every passing year.

Said Goddard in a recent talk: "Every factor that we can measure points to greater pressure on the outdoors."

New State Parks

Eight years ago, Goddard, then a member of Governor Leader's cabinet, helped work out a program for purchasing new state park lands. With several million dollars in annual revenues from oil and gas leases on state-owned lands, the state began building "a park within 25 miles of every Pennsylvanian." Out of this program came the Gifford Pinchot park in northern York County, the big Prince Gallitzin park near Altoona and a number of others.

It soon became evident that the program wasn't going to be adequate, especially in the big populous areas. Slowly, the idea for Project 70 began to form. Goddard and members of the State Planning Board, notably its former chairman, John Robin, nursed it along. They sold it to the Lawrence Administration, then to the Legislature.

Scranton Support

Governor Scranton has been for Project 70 all along. He declared his support early in the 1962 campaign, and the big conservation measure never has been caught up in partisan crossfire.

Constitutional amendments have to be approved by two successive Legislatures before going on the ballot. The 1962 Legislature approved the Project 70 bond-issue amendment by a 198-2 House vote and a 44-3 Senate vote. This year the House passed it 174-14, while the Senate passed it unanimously.

Opposition

There is scattered opposition. The Pennsylvania Farmers' Association, with 11,000 members, is urging a "no" vote. It says the plan is too expensive, and that farmers would suffer from the eminent-domain actions of the land-purchase program. A number of rural newspapers also are opposing the plan.

Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Dauphin County Republican, commented recently that the $70 million was "too much money." Since then, he is reported to have received some vigorous protests from prominent Republicans who are strong not only on conservatism but on conservation.

Support

A wide variety of organizations have joined the list of Project 70 supporters. They include civic groups, labor unions, motor clubs, sportsmen's clubs, planning associations and a range of conservation organizations.

The Project 70 backers, working through the Citizens Committee for Project 70, are buoyed by the knowledge that similar bond-issue referendums passed handsomely in New York and New Jersey.

Still, they're running scared. At least Goddard is.

"I'm afraid," he said, "that for too many people the only thing that has gotten across so far is the $70 million figure. They're scared of it, and we have to justify it as a necessary investment. I hope we can do it in the next couple of weeks."

State Republican Women Oppose Convention Call

Harrisburg — The legislative advisory committee of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women has come out flatly against the proposed convention to revise the Pennsylvania constitution.

In a position paper issued to all member Republican Women's Councils, the state group urges a no vote to the convention question on the Nov. 5 ballot.

The formal position was taken after a meeting with Republican Gov. William Scranton in which he urged for the convention and asked the state Council of Republican Women for its support.

They gave him no such thing. In a recommendation to council members throughout the state, the legislative advisory committee said the council agrees with the governor that the constitution needs revision.

But they favored revision by legislative amendment — the article-by-article method.

"Revision by amendment, as provided in our present constitution, permits the voter to accept or reject the provision of which he approves or disapproves at no extra cost to the taxpayer," the legislative advisory committee said.

The committee opposed revision by constitutional convention "which the voter must accept or reject in its entirety at a cost of $1 million plus to the taxpayers."

In a position paper, the legislative committee listed these arguments for article-by-article amendment which requires approval by two different legislatures and final approval by the voters:

"1. In voting on single amendments, the voter can know exactly what he is voting for or against.

"2. Single amendments can be explained to and understood by the voter.

"3. Single amendments can be intelligently voted upon singly; whereas a whole new constitution is doomed to failure if it displeases to the voters.

"4. There is no assurance of passage of a whole new constitution recommended by a convention.

"5. Single amendments can be drafted by trained legal minds operating on a by-partisan basis."

The council's president, Mrs. Samuel L. Veitch presented this council summary of Gov. Scranton's speech to the council:

"The Constitution of Pennsylvania needs revision and modernization, especially in its financial limitations. The present unrealistic restrictions on borrowing have led to the creation of authorities and the concept of authority borrowing — an expensive means of raising funds, with the higher rates of interest involved.

"1. It is argued that the amendment method of revision is cumbersome, and tends to confuse the voter, when faced with several amendments to vote upon.

"2. The amendment method might stretch out over many years, and produce a patchwork rather than a uniform Constitution.

"3. A new Constitution produced by a convention has value in announcing publicly that Pennsylvania has embarked on a path of progress.

"4. A Constitution Convention selected in 1964 Primary would almost surely be dominated by Republicans. The delegates (150 of them — 3 from each Senatorial District) would be elected at the Primary Election 1964.

"5. The work of the Convention would be to write for Pennsylvania a new Constitution — subject to ratification by the electorate in the General Election of November 1965."

The seven Republican Women's Councils in Monroe County are the Barrett Council, the Monroe County Council, the Pocono Mountain Council, the Truth, Light and Charity Council (T.L.C.), Top of the Mountain Council, Western Pocono Council, and Young Women's Council.

GOP Women Hear County Candidates

Effort — The state convention and local candidates shared the spotlight at the meeting of the Western Pocono Council of Republican Women at the home of Mrs. Michael Kelemen.

Mrs. Fred Murdock announced three days of meetings, workshops and banquets planned for Nov. 17, 18 and 19 in Harrisburg.

Mrs. Ruth Slutter, candidate for prothonotary and clerk of courts; Mrs. Jeannette Batory for register and recorder; and Mrs. Mary Teeter Garcia for county auditor, the three Republican women running for county office, spoke on their qualifications for the posts.

Other guests at the meeting were Mrs. C. W. Dupee, Mrs. T. Edward Terrill of Stroudsburg; Mr. and Mrs. James Gould and Mrs. Hannah Shupp of the West End.

Homemade doughnuts and cookies were served from a table lighted by a jack-o-lantern.

Foods Of Bible Discussed

Stroudsburg — "Foods of the Bible" were featured in a talk by Mrs. Clarence Weiss at the October meeting of the Altar Guild of St. John's Lutheran Church held in the parsonage.

Mrs. Vernon Eilenberger presided at the meeting which opened with devotions by Mrs. James Hantjies.

Plans were made to attend the World Community Day service on Nov. 1 and to prepare layettes in cooperation with the Monroe County United Council of Church Women.

The Altar Guild will attend the Nov. 12 meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women to hear Sister Anna Eibert.

Refreshments were served from a buffet decorated with autumn leaves and seeds by Mrs. Joseph Barnes, Mrs. Roland Duncan, Mrs. Henry Buck and Mrs. Edwin Buck.

Present were Mrs. Helen Glennon, Mrs. Bernie Miller, Mrs. Calvin Butts, Mrs. Arthur Homan, Mrs. James Hantjies, Mrs. Roland Duncan, Mrs. Vernon Eilenberger, Mrs. Edwin Buck, Mrs. Joseph Barnes, Mrs. Henry Buck and Mrs. Clarence Weiss.

Nancy L. Schultz

Miss Schultz Is Engaged

Saylorsburg — Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schultz of Saylorsburg, RD 1, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy L. Schultz to Ralph Mamento, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Mamento of West Bangor.

Miss Schultz is a graduate of Pius X High School, and is now a senior student nurse at Mercy Hospital, Scranton.

Mr. Mamento is a graduate of Pen Argyl Area Joint High School and received his Associate's degree in electrical engineering at Lehigh University. He is now employed by General Aniline Film Corp., Easton.

No date for the wedding has been set.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Borden

Miss Susan Blakeslee Marries Paul A. Borden

McHaney — Miss Susan Jane Blakeslee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Blakeslee of Brodheadsville, became the bride of PFC Paul A. Borden of Saylorsburg on Saturday, Oct. 12, at 2 p.m. at the St. Luke's Methodist church in McHaney.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Borden of Saylorsburg, Pa.

The Rev. David Fife performed the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Beulah Snyder of Sciota was organist. Mr. Charles Snyder sang "Because," and "I Love You Truly," before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer," as they knelt at the altar.

The altar vases were filled with white carnations and the pews were decorated with white pom poms.

PTA To Hear Panel Talk On Jointure

Newfoundland — A panel including Maurice Bobst, supervising principal of the Wallenpaupack Area Joint School; Daniel Callaghan, high school principal at Hawley; Gerard Adams, Jr., and Mrs. Richard Kreitner, guidance counselors at Hawley, will discuss life in the jointure school after it opens in February.

The panel will be heard during the October Parent Teacher Association meeting at Southern Wayne Joint School tomorrow at 8:15 p.m.

There will be a discussion of transportation, activities, curriculum, and other points of interest during the program, and a question and answer period. Officers of all classes at Southern Wayne were invited to attend.

Elmer Becker, South Sterling, will preside at the session, which is open to all in the school auditorium.

Newfoundland Election Dinner

Newfoundland — On November 5, area residents look forward to two things — voting for the candidates of their choice, and dining on chicken and biscuits, served at the Moravian Church by the Ladies Aid.

Serving begins at noon for this special Election Day Dinner, to which everyone is invited.

WHEN a recipe calls for a bouquet garni, you may tie together some sprigs of parsley, a celery top and some dried thyme and use this combination.

'Artistry In Flowers' Described

East Stroudsburg — Five facets of successful flower arrangements were demonstrated at the meeting of the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Matthew's Catholic Church at its meeting this week by Mrs. Harrison Taylor.

"Artistry in Flowers" depends on composition, focal point, balance, color harmony and unity, she said, designing modern, traditional and colonial arrangements.

The centerpiece for the refreshment table was a statue of Our Lady of the Rosary surrounded by burnt orange mums and white lilies.

Miss Eve Zateeny, spiritual development chairman of the Monroe-Pike Deanery spoke on "To God Through Mary."

During the business meeting conducted by Miss Marie Brown, announcements were made of the clothing drive and the annual bazaar Wednesday, Nov. 20, at the American Legion Hall.

Mrs. James Cummings was in charge of ways and means, and Mrs. Arthur Henning, program.

Mrs. Walter Polinski and Mrs. Charles Padillo were co-chairmen of the refreshment committee assisted by Mrs. Theodore Gurka, Mrs. G. B. Dallesio, Mrs. George Rung, Mrs. Herbert Harris, Mrs. Harry Mullins, Mrs. Joseph Harrison and Mrs. Gloria Christman.

Jean Gregory Engagement Announced

Gilbert — Mr. and Mrs. Ethan Gregory, of Gilbert, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to Gerald Roth son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Roth, of Nazareth, RD 2.

Miss Gregory is a graduate of Polk Township High School in Kresgeville and Stroudsburg School of Cosmetology. She is presently a student at Allentown School of Practical Nursing.

Mr. Roth is a graduate of Nazareth Area High School, and Churchman's Business College, Easton. He is presently employed at Nazareth Mutual Insurance Company, Nazareth.

The bride's mother wore a dress of peacock blue chiffon with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue silk dress with black accessories and dark blue hat. Both wore corsages of white roses.

Mrs. Ross Rusk, grandmother of the bride, came from Urbana, Ill., with Mrs. Alfred Ellis of Detroit, Michigan, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Rusk, Mrs. Dorothea Blakeslee, another grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Isaac Hosier and Mrs. Thomas Kelley, grandmother of the groom, all wore corsages of pink roses.

After a reception at Greenview Guest Farm, for approximately 200 guests, the couple left for a short wedding trip.

The bride wore three-piece green jersey suit with black accessories and a rose corsage from her bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Pleasant Valley High School, Class of 1963 and is employed at Caesar's Diner in Wind Gap.

The groom, a graduate of Stroud Union High School in 1959 is serving in the United States Army in Germany. After PFC Borden returns to Budingen, Germany, his wife will remain with her parents.

Middle Smithfield GOP Candidates Discuss Issues

Marshall's Creek — The fall rally of the Middle Smithfield Republican Club, last week heard the five township Republican candidates.

Discussing issues and referendums on the Nov. 5 ballot were:

Alton Jones, for township supervisor; William Erhgood, for constable; candidates for school director, Reginald Numan and Bruce Sherman; and candidate for auditor, Mrs. Josephine Squires.

The club honored Gus Poulos, retiring president, who has moved into East Stroudsburg after 20 years as proprietor of Tom-J Ranch. Poulos has been club president since its formation two years ago.

New officers of the club were voted in as follows: George Smith, president; Frank Decker, vice-president; Mrs. Wilson MacIntire, treasurer and Mrs. Joseph Shukaitis, secretary. Mrs. John Stark was selected as corresponding secretary.

The group was entertained by Elana and Karla Davis of East Stroudsburg whose medley of tunes was well received.

GOP Women Told To Read 'Fine Print At Top Of Ballot'

Canadensis — The fine print at the top of the ballot on Tuesday, Nov. 5 can be easily overlooked or forgotten, but it is important, Mrs. George Kerrick told members of the Top of the Mountain Council of Republican Women at the home of Mrs. Charles Kinsley.

Mrs. Kerrick, political activities chairman, spoke on the four questions which voters should answer: on constitutional revision, Project 70, the student loan proposal, and on setting up a temporary governing body for the state in event of an enemy attack.

A discussion on one of the questions, constitutional revision, followed the talk by Mrs. Mervin Fontanelli, organizer of the council.

In the general discussion period, the consensus appeared to be that, instead of over-all revision, changes be made to antiquated portions by amendments.

One question was unanswered: why the proposed amendments submitted by a group of lawyers who had studied the out-of-date articles in the constitution had not been approved by the state legislature.

The state council convention in Harrisburg Nov. 17, 18, and 19 was discussed. A delegate and an alternate will be sent, and a $25 contribution for the state council. A scrapbook of council activities will be entered in the contest.

Mrs. George Kerrick, Mrs. H. H. Kerrick and Mrs. Alice Shotwell served refreshments before the meeting, to Mrs. Claude Bush, Mrs. Irene Malsch, Mrs. Ronald Dans, Mrs. Betsy Seeley, Mrs. Dora C. Field, Mrs. Rudolph Montboller, Mrs. Harry Eberhart, Mrs. Grace Bush, Mrs. Claude Baxter, Mrs. Ernest Lewis Mrs. Kinsley and Mrs. Fontanella.

Local council membership has grown from 25 to 48 at the beginning of October with several new members added at this meeting.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 18 at the Sportsmens Motel, Blakeslee.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Monday, October 28, 1963
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Don't let yourself become aggressive over minor situations. A smile and a patient attitude will see you through.
April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Note early that this is one of those "give and take" days, with emphasis on the giving. The artistic, extra trimming, the light touch can bring all things.
May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — A good time to develop a dormant talent, to repeat a forgotten tactic that worked when others failed. Don't yield to frustration. Keep your eyes on the future.
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Organize yourself, your system, better to advance as you should. Begin helpful discussions, and stick with trying matters that still need care. Shun dubious schemes.
July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Some tailor-made results in your career effort. You may be on delicate ground in some situation, but no dilemma exists without its solution. Be patient.
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — You may face quite a bit of opposition now. Don't panic. One task is to weed out the undesirable and help non-thinkers see the light.
September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — With an auspicious Venus supporting your work and all interests, you should enjoy many fruits. But do not be lulled into a sense of false security. Take reasonable precautions in all endeavors.
October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — An excellent Mars aspect promises you some dandy offerings. You now have a wonderful opportunity to display your many fine talents.
November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — You may meet opposition early, or in some unusual form. Don't become excited and flail up, or turn to others; just stand staunchly at your post and tensions will ease.
December 24 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Be serious but not too solemn, concerned but not worrisome. There's more than one way to lick troublesome spots. Don't act hastily, however.
January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — A somewhat biased day, but friendly for the most part. Step up the leisurely gain, simmer in the gallop. No quick and easy recipe but one which brings enduring strength.
February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Neptune, still auspicious, helps you to further all worthwhile interests. Study plans well then act with finesse.
YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great physical virility, and mental vigor, too. You may often surprise yourself as well as others at the power, thrusts of which you are capable. A stalwart soul, you can also be adamant. In emergencies you act swiftly and accurately.

Pen Argyl Extends Winning Streak; Tumbles Nazareth On Late Rally

PEN ARGYL — The Green Knights of Pen Argyl extended their winning streak to eight—including six this year—with a second-half rally which tumbled Nazareth Saturday, 25-14.

The defeat was the fourth straight for the Blue Eagles who now have a 1-5 record.

Sloppy ballhandling on the part of the Knights caused them to fall behind by a 14-7 margin at the half. Pen Argyl mishandled the ball a total of seven times.

On the first play of the second quarter, Nazareth's Nick Drosnock scooped up a Pen Argyl fumble and returned 40 yards to the Green Knight 9.

On the second play from scrimmage Ron Werner tallied from seven yards out and Jim Herceg's touchdown gave the Eagles a 7-0 lead.

Another Fumble Nazareth reached paydirt again about two minutes later after Pen Argyl bobbled the ball again but recovered on its own 1. A poor punt from that spot gave Nazareth possession on the home club's 14.

In three plays, the Eagles scored again as Drosnock scooted over on a rollout from the 7. Herceg's kick upped the count to 14-0.

The Green Knights finally came to life on the ensuing kickoff. Taking over on their own 44, they traveled 56 yards in seven plays, mixing the T-formation along with their single-wing attack. The TD came on a five-yard pounce of fullback Jim Rodney and John Fenner ran over for the conversion point.

The Knights took advantage of a Nazareth fumble on a kickoff in the third period and took over on the Nazareth 15. But after three plays, the Knights were pushed back five yards.

On the fourth-down play, Terry Young passed to George Woolley over the middle. Woolley spun around and handed off to LeRoy Amy on a 19-yard play, placing the ball on the Nazareth 4. Rodney took a pitchout on the next play to cross the goal line. But the conversion attempt missed and the Knights still trailed, 14-13.

Still behind by that margin in the final session, Pen Argyl struck for what proved to be the winning TD early in the fourth quarter.

Interception Bruce Hewett intercepted a Nazareth pass late in the third period, giving Pen Argyl possession on its own 45. The 55-yard drive was interrupted only by the end of the third period as the Knights used but 10 plays to go all the way. Young went over from the 5 on an end run.

The last scoring march covered 65 yards in nine plays with Hewett ramming over from the 1 with three minutes remaining.

As usual, the Knights were powerful on the ground, totaling 247 yards while holding the visitors to 76. Pen Argyl attempted only two passes, completed one for 14 yards. Nazareth completed four of eight for a scant total of 14 yards.

Both teams were penalized only twice—both for 15 yards. Pick Up Bos

Oilers Take Lead On 28-7 Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Ageless George Blanda passed for three touchdowns and Mark Johnston made a dazzling 90-yard pass interception return Sunday as Houston defeated Kansas City 28-7 to take a full game lead in the Eastern Division of the American Football League.

Houston trailed 7-0 at the half but Blanda fired a six-yard pass to end Bob McLeod with just 3:20 gone in the third quarter to even things up.

Tony Banfield quickly intercepted a Len Dawson pass, setting up a 35-yard Oiler drive that took only three plays to complete.

Tallies Again McLeod then took a 24-yard pass from Blanda to tally again just 1:44 after his first touchdown.

The victory left Houston with a 5-3 record, one game ahead of Boston, which is 4-4.

Johnston, a 6-foot, 200-pounder from Northwestern, set an Oiler club record when he snared a pass from Dawson intended for Frank Jackson, and sped upfield 90 yards for Houston's third touchdown.

Kansas City's lone tally came late in the second quarter when Dawson hit Chris Burford with a 22-yard end zone pass.

Just for good measure, Blanda shot a seven-yard pass to Willard Deweall with just 1:51 left in the game.

Kansas City 0 7 0 0-7 Houston 0 0 14 14-28 —67, and deadlocked Aaron with a 15-foot birdie putt at the final hole.

Aaron came back strong on the back nine and finished at 37-34-71 for a 278 total. But after holding undisputed second place for three rounds he had to share it with Al Geiberger. Geiberger shot the day's best round, 34-33—67, and deadlocked Aaron with a 15-foot birdie putt at the final hole.

Blakely, however, replaced Seranton Tech as runner-up to Tunkhannock in the North while Millersville advanced one spot to displace Mount Carmel behind Sunbury in the south.

The victory gave ESSC sole possession of second place in the eastern section of the PSCAC with a 4-1 record. Millersville was dropped from its second-place tie with East Stroudsburg with a 3-2 mark.

EAST STROUDSBURG

When you get a standing ovation whether it be the biggest football stadium in the land or the smallest — you have done something spectacular. The fans let you know it.

The crowd of 3,000 Saturday let East Stroudsburg State College's Toby Barkman know it. The senior halfback put on a one-man show, catching two touchdown passes and running for another as the Warriors scored a 21-13 triumph over Millersville.

It was Toby's superlative 61-yard gallop early in the second period which not only broke a scoreless deadlock but also brought the crowd to its feet to pay tribute to the lad who made as fine a run as you'll see anywhere.

Shakes Them Off

Nearly spilled behind the line of scrimmage, Barkman managed to retain his footing, then was hit three times as he slanted through the left side of the line. Shaking them off, one by one, he was hit twice more but spun away each time, then headed down the left sideline as his nearest pursuer was picked off by a nifty block-yard gallop early in the second period which not only broke a scoreless deadlock but also brought the crowd to its feet to pay tribute to the lad who made as fine a run as you'll see anywhere.

Barkman, continuing to rewrite the scoring record book of the Pennsylvania State College Football Conference, also scored two more touchdowns as a receiver of two passes from quarterback Charlie Sier.

200 Points

That gave Toby six TDs for the year — and a career total of 200 points in conference competition. The previous week he had scored two touchdowns for a total of 182 points, eclipsing the old PSCAC record of 180, set by West Chester's Joe Iacone last season.

It was later in the second quarter when Barkman hauled in the first of his two aerial bombs. Taking over on their own 24 following a punt, the Warriors sent Henry Mowery through the line for three yards. Barkman took a handoff on the next play but was spilled for a three-yard loss.

Sierer faded to pass on the third-down play and Barkman, slanting out to the right was the target. A bulleseye flip connected and Toby raced untouched down the field on the 76-yard play which provided the Warriors with a 14-0 halftime advantage.

Good Defense

Meanwhile, the ESSC defensive unit was doing a superb job of containing the Millersville offense. Not once in the first half did the Raiders penetrate East Stroudsburg territory.

Late in the third period, the Sierer — Barkman duo went to work again. Recovering a Millersville fumble on their own 30, the Warriors picked up a first down as Mowery and Barkman cracked the line for 10 yards on the two runs.

After Jan Beliveau was stopped for no gain, Sierer sent another aerial towards Toby. The ball was deflected by one defender but Barkman hesitated just briefly enough to snare the near-errant toss and covered the remaining 60 yards for another score.

Quick Fashion

In all, the three Warrior TDs came in lightning quick fashion. There wasn't anything resembling a sustained drive in any of them.

The first TD came on the very first play from scrimmage following a Millersville punt. That's when Toby refused to be stopped and sprinted into paydirt from his own 39-yard line.

The first of the two touchdowns passed came on the third play from scrimmage; the second on the fourth play.

Millersville did not get on the scoreboard until the final period.

Ray Rowe intercepted a Sierer pass to give the Raiders possession on their own 46 and seven plays scored their first TD. Tom Hain connected with John Baillie in the end zone from the 4.

Goal Line Stand

Later in the final session, the Warriors staged a fine goal line stand. A 35-yard pass from Hain to Bill Cummings gave the Raiders a first down on the ESSC 12. Another Hain aerial — again to Cummings — fell a yard short of a first down on the Warrior 3 on the second play. But with two cracks at the line, fullback Bob Mesaros failed to pick up the one yard as the Warriors took over.

Millersville generated its other scoring drive following another interception of a Sierer aerial. Starting on the ESSC 37, the Raiders used seven plays to score with Ron Porter scampering around left end from the 4 for the TD. But there were only 53 seconds left by that time.

The victory gave ESSC sole possession of second place in the eastern section of the PSCAC with a 4-1 record. Millersville was dropped from its second-place tie with East Stroudsburg with a 3-2 mark.

Gabriel Paces L.A. Over 49ers, 28-21

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Quarterback Roman Gabriel fired a 51-yard touchdown pass to Carroll Dale for one touchdown and ran 12 for another as the Los Angeles Rams scored twice in the final quarter Sunday in a come from behind performance to defeat the San Francisco 49ers 28-21.

In a battle to escape the cellar of the Western Division of the National Football League, the Rams saw a 14-7 lead vanish as the 49ers rallied with a pair of touchdowns in the third quarter.

Then, to the delight of the 45,532 fans, Gabriel led Los Angeles back to its second straight victory.

First Since '61

The last time the Rams won two in a row was in 1961 when they defeated Minnesota and the 49ers.

The Rams took the opening kickoff and drove 76 yards for their first touchdown on the opening kickoff, with fullback Ben Wilson going the final yard.

Gabriel passed six yards to Dale to make it 14-0 in the second quarter, ending a 74-yard drive.

McHan's passing paved the way to a 49er touchdown in the second with J. D. Smith making the final yard.

Don Lisbon passed for 45 yards to Garry Knafelc to open the scoring for the 49ers after the halftime kickoff to tie up the game.

San Francisco went ahead on a two-yard smash by Jim Vollenweider after McHan set up the score with a 39-yard completion to Bernie Casey.

Then Gabriel got hot again as Los Angeles tied and then won the contest in the final period.

'Workhorse' Werkheiser Crushes Cavaliers, 45-14

By KEN O'BRIEN
Daily Record Sports Editor
EAST STROUDSBURG — One good reason Wilson Boro is still undefeated in the Lehigh-Northampton League is a flashy, shifty speed demon named Barry Werkheiser. His last name should be workhorse.

The 5-foot-9, 175-pound halfback who can dart and dash with the agility of a jack rabbit, tallied three touchdowns Saturday night, upping his season total to 10, to pace Wilson Boro to a 45-14 triumph over the Cavaliers of East Stroudsburg.

While there was never any doubt about the eventual outcome of the game, Werkheiser put on a good show for the throng of 4,000. And, at times, the Cavaliers demonstrated spurts of a brand of football better than their record indicates.

Fourth Win
The visiting Warriors pushed their league record to 3-0 while winning their fourth game in six starts (they tied one and lost one). East Stroudsburg, meanwhile, is now 0-4 in the league and 1-5 overall.

Wilson scored the first three times it got its hands on the ball. Scott Claus returned the opening kickoff to the Warrior 46 and in two plays Wilson Boro was on the scoreboard. Halfback Steve Hickey hit the left side of the line for a two-yard pickup and Werkheiser — on his first carry — barreled through the right side of the line and dashed 52 yards into paydirt with only one minute, 14 seconds gone in the game.

Poor Start
Eastburg started its first series of plays just as poorly as Wilson started in spectacular fashion. Three consecutive illegal procedure infractions were called against the Cavaliers on their first three plays.

Forced to kick from the 15, Doug Hilyard boomed a punt to the Wilson 40 and the Warriors, taking over on their 44, launched a 56-yard drive in seven plays. Hickey and Werkheiser alternated in lugging the leather to the Eastburg 17 while picking up three first downs. Gary Laubach passed to end Chuck Lisko to the 1. Hickey then cracked the line from there and Bob Plotts booted the PAT for a 13-0 lead.

An intercepted pass gave the Warriors possession on the Cavalier 31 and in four plays they booted the margin to 19-0. Hickey and Werkheiser carried the ball to the Eastburg 12 in three plays, and Hickey reached paydirt on the next play at 4:50 of the first quarter.

SWIFTWATER — Some 2,000 solid football fans saw a determined Bangor Area High School Slater eleven pound out a 26-7 victory over the Cardinals of Pocono Mountain High on Saturday afternoon in the first meeting between these two schools.

Paced by the hard running of Jim Parsons, Sam Brown and Sherry Herd and the passing arm of Jim Dietz the Slaters controlled the contest throughout the game and could have made the score to match the wishes of coach Andy Moconyi.

The Slaters played without the services of Bill Yeager, ace halfback and his replacement Tom Brown again this week. Also missing from action were Terry Ettinger and Duane Krauss, the latter the second string quarterback.

Starts Early
Bangor started off early to bring about the decision for the afternoon when the Cardinals, after receiving the opening kickoff, were unable to mount an offensive and kicked to Bangor on its own 30. The Slaters went to work immediately and countered with first downs on the Bangor 46; Cardinal 40 and 28, suffered a five-yard penalty but returned to action for another first on the 19 again on the nine. Fred LaBar cracked over for the first Slater touchdown. The placement try was wide. As the first quarter came to a close the Slaters were again in possession on their own 48 yard line.

Starting the second quarter Bangor moved to the Pocono Mt. 42 for a first down and added another on the losers 32. The Slaters added another on the 21 before being penalized back to the 26. A quick carry by Jim Parsons garnered another first down on the losers nine.

Takes To Air
Seemingly held at bay, Jim Dietz went to the air and hit Sam Brown for another Slater TD as he was crossing the goal line. The placement try was no good and the Slaters held a 12 to 0 lead.

Bangor's hard charging forwards came into their own in the next series of plays. Dick Jones, Charles Kish, Barry Holland and others in the defensive unit drove the Cardinals back to their own 20. Held for downs at this point, Mike Campbell of the Cardinals was back to punt or pass. Rushed hard by the Slaters he was driven back and fumbled on the third yard line. Bill Scamell, alert Bangor end, scooped up the bounding ball and ran into the end zone for a touchdown.

Jim Dietz place kicked the extra point and the Slaters had a 19 to 0 first half lead, with time running out shortly following the ensuing kick off and return.

Ground Attack
With the start of the second half the Slaters put their ground game to work and taking the kickoff moved to the Cardinal 10 yard line before losing the ball with a fumble. Pocono Mountain was unable to mount an offensive and kicked to Bangor on the Cardinal 40.

With Bangor's backs eating up the yardage with first downs on the 27, 13 and 3, the Slaters moved to score again when Tom Frable, third string quarterback carried over from the one on a quarterback sneak. Jim Dietz hit with a perfect placement and the Slaters were in front 26 to 0.

In the fourth quarter the losers hit pay dirt for the first time with many second and third stringers seeing game-ending service for the Slaters. After an exchange of intercepted passes, the Cardinals gained possession on the Bangor 20.

Mark Mikels ran for six yards; the second down try netted nothing and on third down, Allan Young hit Mike Campbell behind the defender with a strike and he ran the 14 yards for the touchdown. Dick DeHaven's placement was right on target and the Cardinals were on the score board for 7. Time ran out shortly after this and the Slaters garnered their first win over the Cardinals.

The Slaters registered 16 first downs while holding the Cardinals to 4 while net rushing yardage showed Bangor with 169 while Pocono had 50.

By virtue of a 1-1 double-overtime tie at Lock Haven Saturday, the Warrior Booters laid claim to the championship of the Pennsylvania State Colleges Athletic Conference.

Still undefeated after nine games this season, Saturday's contest was the second of the year in which the Warriors were tied. They had won seven in a row following an opening scoreless deadlock against Montclair.

This contest also ended in a scoreless tie at the end of regulation play.

First Goal
ESSC's Dave Rittenhouse booted across the first goal of the game at 2:09 of the first overtime session. But Lock Haven's Andy Van Demark knotted the count at 1-1 with a goal at 3:10 in the second overtime session.

In soccer contests there are two overtime sessions of five minutes each.

East Stroudsburg took a total of 33 shots, while Lock Haven made 26. ESSC goalie Joe Kolok made 19 saves while Gary Meyers made 17 in the tough defensive struggle.

The Warriors won the conference championship by remaining undefeated and untied in conference competition this year. Lock Haven had lost but one conference game to Millersville.

Pleasant Valley Scores 39-6 Win Over Minisink

BRODHEADSVILLE — Pleasant Valley's Bears finally made their varsity debut before the hometown folks here Saturday and the fans were treated to a 39-6 rout over visiting Minisink Valley.

Scoring in every period, coach Wayne Hulsizer's charges led all the way and overpowered the upstate New York eleven in the second half after Minisink created a mild threat in the third period.

The Bears gained a 6-0 lead in the first period when halfback John Kresge climaxed a 50-yard drive, dashing across the goal line from the six. Pleasant Valley employed seven plays for the march from the midfield stripe. The Bears had gained possession following a punt.

In the second stanza, the Bears struck again for a 13-0 halftime lead. Taking over on the Minisink 40, Pleasant Valley capped the drive on Delbert Kibler's six-yard scamper around left end. Del was an instrumental figure in that drive, picking up 25 yards on another run around the left side of the line which carried the ball down to the seven.

But Minisink rallied early in the third quarter to get back in the ballgame. Taking over on its own 35 following the opening kickoff of the second half, the New Yorkers took to the air lanes and traveled the 65-yard distance into paydirt in 10 plays.

A screen pass from John Rozowski to Harry Hoop covered 20 yards narrowed the margin to 13-6.

But it was all Pleasant Valley after that as the Bears went over the 500 mark on the season with a 2-1-1 record.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Bears had their backs to the wall as they started on their own 10 following a 15-yard infraction. But a solid running attack ate up the 90 yards to goal dust in quick fashion.

Lou Herfurth, who did most of the ball-carrying en route to another TD, finally took it over from the five, upping the margin to 20-6.

Herfurth also tallied the next TD after intercepting a Minisink aerial and going all the way for 30 yards into paydirt. That touchdown came following the kickoff to Minisink and Lou intercepted on the visitors' first play from scrimmage. That made it, 27-6.

Two More
In the fourth quarter, the Bears struck for two more TDs. It took them only three plays to travel 55 yards this time as Lambert Murphy connected with Ken Bowman for a 35-yard aerial bomb.

Pleasant Valley finished its scoring with a 75-yard drive, using all running plays. Dale Kibler carried across from the 6 for the final score.

The Bears never had to punt once in the game. They outrushed their opponents by a 322 to 97 margin. And they completed five of eight passes for 90 yards, compared to nine of 18 for 61 yards by Minisink.

Tulane Ties Loss Streak
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tulane, everybody's doormat, has reached an unhappy milestone in its descent to the Southeastern Conference cellar.

The Green Wave, beaten 17-3 by Georgia Tech Saturday, tied the SEC record for the longest losing streak — 17 games. Alabama set the mark through the 1954-1956 seasons.

Coach Tommy O'Boule has yet to win a football game in two years as head coach.

No Perfect Pa. Seasons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pennsylvania won't have an undefeated, untied football team in 1963, Navy's Roger Staubach saw to that.

The sensational young Middle quarterback fired a broadside that sunk Pitt, 24-12, leaving the skinned Panthers with a 4-1 record. Navy stopped Pitt cold, holding it scoreless until the final period.

Unbeaten Temple won its fifth game Saturday night and assured itself of its first winning season since 1951 with a 46-14 rout of Hofstra. The Owls' record is marred only by a tie with Kings Point.

Indians Bow
Among the once-tied, but previously unbeaten, Indiana and Westminster were upset. The defeat may have been very costly for Indiana. It probably cost the big Indians the western division title in the State College Conference.

Slippery Rock, defending champs in the west overcame a 7-0 lead with Stan Truskewski's 12-yard touchdown pass and Jack Gorsin's 28-yard field goal in jolting Indiana 10-7. Once beaten Slippery Rock is winning its fourth now is in a good spot to repeat as division king.

Westminster bowed 34-26 to Waynesburg as quarterback Harry Theofilides threw a 49-yard TD pass and ran for two six pointers for the winners. Waynesburg fullback Wayne Fullerton remained in the thick of the state individual scoring race with a pair of TDs boosting his total to 60 points.

Third Win
Thiel, once tied, remained unbeaten with a 28-7 victory over Bethany as quarterback Joe Lud passed for one TD and ran 17 yards for another. It was Thiel's third win.

A pair of winless teams finally found out what it feels like to get the game ball, when Lafayette, which had lost four and scored only one touchdown, upset Bucknell 14-13 and Carnegie Tech, also a four time loser, fended off F. & M. 35-24.

Lafayette's win was the first for first year coach Ken Bunn.

Bill Stoudt, D. Armitage Win In '840'

STROUDSBURG — Bill Stoudt and Dot Armitage, both of East Stroudsburg, posted wins in yesterday's third "840 Classic" prelims at Colonial Lanes.

Stoudt's impressive 237 middle game was the best of the day and gave Bill a 554 total in play. Wally Straub of Stroudsburg finished in second just 10 pins behind with 544.

Al poorman of Stroudsburg scored 531 and Carl Shirk of East Stroudsburg, 526.

The feature of the ladies match was a close finish. Going into the final frame only one pin separated the two leaders. Dot Armitage of East Stroudsburg marked in the 10th as Mary Cramer of Stroudsburg failed to convert a 4-7-9 split.

Armitage totaled 498 and Cramer 487.

Cora Martin of Stroudsburg scored 469 and Lena Dippre of East Stroudsburg, 406.

Stoudt meets Pete Murphy and Russ Bergman, and Dot Armitage meets Doris Fellenner and Jean Paul along with Sunday's prelim winners in the first semi-final on Feb. 16.

King Hill In Hospital

CHICAGO (AP) — Quarterback King Hill of the Philadelphia Eagles was hit hard near the end of the game in a 16-7 loss to the Chicago Bears Sunday and rushed to Illinois Masonic Hospital.

Hill took over for Sonny Jurgensen, who was injured last week against the Cleveland Browns. He will be held overnight for observation.

Attendants said Hill did not suffer a serious injury and was only badly shaken.

As insurance for Hill, the Eagles last week signed veteran quarterback Ralph Guglielmi.

Upsets Mark Grid Battles

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

On the kind of day that makes "upset" sound slightly ridiculous in reference to college football, Wisconsin, Pittsburgh, Dartmouth, Mississippi State and Duke suffered their first defeats of the season. Notre Dame, Southern Methodist, Florida and Northwestern, among others, received rather unforeseen setbacks.

The result left mighty Texas, Auburn, Princeton and Bowling Green as the only major college teams still unbeaten and untied. Mississippi and unheralded Memphis State remained undefeated, although they played a scoreless tie against each other early in the season. And things are looking up for such once-beaten teams as Ohio State, Oklahoma, Missouri, Louisiana State, Navy and Syracuse and Syracuse and twice-beaten Southern California.

"We're No. 1"

Texas fans chanted "We're No. 1" as the Longhorns eked out a 10-6 victory over Rice Saturday night. They probably were right, but it wasn't an easy game. Auburn didn't play last weekend, Princeton overpowered Cornell 51-14 to go to the top of Ivy League and Bowling Green scored its sixth this season and its eighth straight, 18-3, over Kent State to take over with the longest current major college winning streak.

Ohio State knocked Wisconsin's defending champions out of the Big Ten lead 13-10 and Navy dropped Pitt from the all-winning brigade 24-12.

These results likely will have considerable effect on the Top Ten ratings in the next vote. Wisconsin was No. 2 and Pitt No. 3 last week.

Harvard ended Dartmouth's 15-game winning streak 17-13. North Carolina State beat Duke 21-7 and Memphis State downed Mississippi State 17-10. It was the first defeat for each, although both had been tied.

The weekend results helped races, but didn't settle anything definitely. Three teams are tied for first place in the Big Ten, Southeastern Conference and Big Six. Nebraska and Missouri share the Big Eight lead with Oklahoma only a step behind.

With formidable Rice out of the way, Texas is strongly favored to retain its Southwest

Fog Delays Finals Of Canada Cup

PARIS (AP) — A dense fog which cut visibility to 100 yards blanketed the Saint-Nom-la-Breche course Sunday and delayed for 24 hours the final round of the Canada Cup International Golf competition.

Now the golfing world must wait at least until Monday to learn whether any two-man team is capable of beating Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus of the United States in a 72-hole showdown.

After three rounds over the 6,834-yard, par 72 layout 12 miles from Paris, the heavily-favored Yanks with a combined score of 416 were tied with a pair of surprising, dark-horse Spaniards, Sebastian Miguel and Ramon Sola.

South Africa's formidable combination of Gary Player and Retief Goosen was one stroke back at 417, followed by Australia's Bruce Crampton and Bruce Devlin at 420, and Canada's Al Balding and Stan Leonard at 422.

Horse Show To U.S.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The United States won the Prix des Nations at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show Friday night in a test so difficult that three riders were thrown, a horse was injured and only one competitor had a faultless round.

The U.S. victory also clinched the team championship in the week-long international jumping competition which ends Saturday night.

The rugged test was run in two rounds—afternoon and evening.

The casualties occurred in the afternoon. Argentina, because one of its horses came up lame from a bad spill, was unable to compete in the night round.

None of the thrown riders was seriously injured.

It remained for Ireland's Capt. W. A. Ringrose to master the course finally in the last ride of the evening.

U.S. team captain Billy Steinkraus had only one knockdown on each of his two rides.

Canada's Melvin Stone also had only one knockdown in two rides, but each time he exceeded the time limit and was charged with fractions of faults for the misuses.

The Prix des Nations is the blue ribbon event of any horse show and this was the third straight year the U.S. had won it at the Penn National.

The victory raised the U.S. team score to 104 points, far ahead of runner-up Argentina which has 48 points, despite being shut out of the Prix des Nations.

Canada finished second in the event with 61 faults, compared to the U.S.'s 49.25 faults. Ireland had 95 faults.

In over-all team scoring Ireland held third place with 44 points and Canada was last with 42 points.

On Committee

Shapp Accuses Scranton Of Being Headline Happy

PITTSBURGH—Pennsylvania industrialist, Milton J. Shapp, charged Saturday that Republican Governor Scranton is obviously "headline happy" and "interested in personal publicity alone" in the conduct of his "much-ballyhooed Committee of 100,000."

Shapp, who is president of the Jerrold Corp. of Phila., and a leading authority on economic development, made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at the quarterly meeting of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America, District Council 6 at Wilmerding, Pa., near here.

Shapp pointed to the Governor's recent speech in New York in which he declared that Pennsylvania's "dark days" have been "miraculously ended by a few waves of the Governor's magic wand."

"Fortunately, the Governor went all the way to New York to make that statement," Shapp said. "He had to, because he knew he wouldn't dare make it in his own County of Lackawanna or in the coal mining regions of Southwest Pennsylvania, or in the shadow of the steel mills where men are being thrown out of work by automation or lack of contractual commitments."

"The Scranton solution of Pennsylvania's economic problems is obvious, now. He simply says: 'Ignore them and maybe they will go away.' Shapp said. Shapp charged that the "basic insincerity of the Governor's Committee is best demonstrated by the fact that its chairman, Frank Magee, is a member of the board of Westinghouse Air Brake and Magee's own company has just voted to close down its industrial products division in Wilmerding.

"Magee and two members of the Governor's Council of Business and Industry, E. S. Hanley and John A. Mayer, all three members of the Westinghouse board, are, in effect, voting to demolish 400 jobs and move them out of Pennsylvania to Lexington, Kentucky," Shapp said. "That is the best indication we have had yet as to the direction the Governor and his committee are going to take."

"Meanwhile, they are ignoring the real needs of Pennsylvania. They demonstrate no real concern for better education, providing new and better high speed transportation facilities or developing our basic, natural resources. Those are the three legs of the tripod upon which realistic economy recovery for Pennsylvania will be based," Shapp said.

"Until the Governor, his publicity staff and the members of his various committees begin to pay honest attention to these needs, instead of talking their way around them, the people of Pennsylvania are justified in questioning their lack of understanding and good faith," Shapp said.

Bangor Lions Observe Ladies' Night

BANGOR—Ladies' Night was observed by the Bangor Lions Club on Saturday evening at Heddy's Hawaiian Room near Marshalls Creek. The dinner and dance was attended by 93 members and guests and featured the Hawaiian dishes of the resort. Special gifts were presented to the ladies in attendance.

Three new members were inducted into the Bangor Club in the post dinner activities by A. A. Calzetti, zone chairman, who is a member of the Martins Creek Club. The new members were William Pensyl, varsity basketball coach, Andrew Moconyi, varsity head football coach at Bangor Area Senior High School, and John DeCesare. John Florot, president of the Bangor club served as the master of ceremonies and Richard Werner offered the invocation and the benediction. Special gifts were also given to several club members and special prizes were claimed by Walter Teel, John Linaberry, John Humphreys and John Schiavone.

Prior to the dinner a cocktail hour was enjoyed and the function was arranged for by a committee headed by Anthony Cottura. Following the dinner and club activities, dancing was enjoyed with music supplied by Sammy Canavo and his orchestra. Those attending also took part in a club sing-along directed by Gus Chaffier.
